LOCATION AND EXTRINSIC ADVANTAGES.

In its location at the Capital of the nation, Georgetown University enjoys advantages which can hardly be overestimated and which must necessarily increase with the growth of the country. Not only is the city, free as it is from the noise, dirt, and distracting surroundings of a great commercial center, most favorable to the tranquil and earnest pursuit of study, but it has an unparalleled educational equipment in the great scientific collections and libraries of the Government. By the authority of Congress all facilities for study and research afforded by the Government collections are made accessible to scientific investigators and students of institutions of higher learning in the District of Columbia.

This provision applies to the Library of Congress, the National Museum, the Patent Office, the Bureau of Education, the Bureau of Ethnology, the Army Medical Museum, the Department of Agriculture, the Fish Commission, the Botanical Gardens, the Coast and Geodetic Survey, the Geological Survey, the Naval Observatory, several hospitals, and to various departments supplied with special libraries, laboratories and equipment for research. The administration of these bureaus brings together a large corps of scientific workers, and has already made the seat of government the chief educational center of the country as well. One consequence of these conditions is that scientific societies are exceptionally numerous and flourishing. The operation of the National Government, with its executive, legislative and judicial machinery, is in itself a most efficient agent of instruction; to be familiar from daily observation with the workings of the House of Representatives, the Senate, the Supreme Court, and the Administration is a privilege and a training which cannot be too highly prized and which cannot be found elsewhere.

HISTORY.

The plan which was completed by the foundation of Georgetown College seems to have been first projected about 1638 by Fr. Poulton, the Superior of the Maryland Mission. On November 13, 1786, the Corporation of Roman Catholic Clergymen, in the Chapter held at Whitemarsh, Md., adopted a series of "Resolves Concerning the Institution of a School," in which it determined that a school should be erected at Georgetown, Md., and that the sale of a piece of land belonging to the corporation should be made in order that the proceeds might be applied to the erection of the first building. Rev. Messrs. John Carroll, afterward Archbishop of Baltimore; James Pellenz, Robert Molyneux, John Ashton, and Leonard Neale were appointed directors.

In 1815 Congress conferred the power of granting college and university degrees, and in 1833 the Holy See bestowed the privilege of giving in its name degrees in philosophy and theology.

The next step in the development of the College was the erection and equipment in 1842 of a complete Astronomical Observatory; in the following year the formal incorporation of the institution was effected by Congress.

The School of Medicine was opened in 1851 and the School of Law in 1870. The Graduate School was in existence as early as 1856, in which year it comprised four resident graduates. It has continued with varying degrees of success since that time. The Dental School was opened in 1901.

SITE AND SURROUNDINGS.

Georgetown College is situated on Georgetown Heights, two and one-half miles distant from the Capitol, overlooking the city of Washington and the Potomac River, and commanding one of the noblest views in the world. The site is singularly healthful, and the climate exceptionally mild and agreeable.

The College buildings, exclusive of the Observatory, are eight in number, and present an aggregate frontage of about twelve hundred feet. They are surrounded by grounds comprising seventy-eight acres; these are intersected by the "Walks," whose sylvan beauty has made them famous.

ENTRANCE REQUIREMENTS.

Students may enter at any time during the session, and, on examination, will be assigned to the class for which their prior attainments have fitted them.

Satisfactory testimonials of good conduct will be required from those who come from other institutions.

It is especially to be noted that Georgetown College is a Classical College of prescribed courses. The prescribed studies include both Latin and Greek, and no one will be received as a candidate for the degree of A. B. unless he takes all the prescribed studies, including both Latin and Greek. Entrance to Freshman Class requires that the candidate shall have made four years of Latin and three years and one semester of Greek. For graduates of approved High Schools and Preparatory Schools, who have not taken Latin or Greek, special classes are provided in the Georgetown College Preparatory School connected with the College, wherein, by almost exclusive attention to these branches, the applicant may in one, or at most in two years fit himself for graded entrance into Freshman Class.

Such High School graduates who satisfy the entrance requirements except in Greek only, and shall present an equivalent of the Greek in some other branch, will be admitted to Freshman Class as special students while they are making up the required Greek. The Greek may be in large measure prepared during the Freshman year by attendance in the Special Latin and Greek Class of the Preparatory School.

Candidates for admission to the advanced classes must pass a satisfactory examination upon all the subjects previously studied by the class which they propose to enter.

From certain Classical Preparatory or High Schools of established reputation students are admitted to the Freshman Class without examination, upon presentation of the Principal's certificate that they have completed the required amount of work and are prepared to enter College. It is usually found that they have yet to qualify in Latin Prosody.

In each case, however, a catalogue giving the course of studies required in his school, must accompany the Principal's certificate. The Georgetown College Preparatory School Catalogue may be had on application to the Prefect of Studies.

In all other cases, for admission to this class a successful examination is required in the following subjects, or their equivalent:

LATIN.—Grammar.—The entire Latin Grammar, including a knowledge of all regular syntactical constructions. Translation into Latin at sight of complex English sentences, entailing the application of rules for relative clauses, indirect discourse and conditional sentences.

Prosody.—All the rules as given in Casserly's Prosody, or some equivalent work; application to hexameter verse; scansion of Ovid and Virgil. A simple exercise will be exacted in the rearrangement of broken verse.

Latin Composition.—Translation into Latin of easy continuous prose based upon Cæsar and Cicero. This requirement is of very special importance, and great weight will be given to it in the examination. The use of Cicero's letters as well as his orations as models for the requirements of Latin idiom is strongly recommended.

Nepos.—Lives, Miltiades, Themistocles, Hannibal.

Phædrus.—Fables, two hundred lines.

Cæsar.—Commentaries, two books.

Ovid.—Metamorphoses, six hundred lines.

Cicero.—Selected Letters, five hundred lines.

De Senectute, entire.

Orations, Against Catiline, I and II.

Virgil.—Eclogues I and II.

Georgics, Book IV, two hundred and fifty lines.

Aeneid, Book I, entire.

GREEK.—Grammar.—Etymology complete (including all the irregular and defective forms); the rules for accents; the rules of syntax and their application; the Homeric dialect.

Greek Composition.—Translation into Greek of simple English sentences based upon Xenophon's Anabasis.

Xenophon.—Anabasis, Books I and II.

Cyropædia, one thousand lines.

Homer.—Iliad, Books I and II.

N. B.—In assigning the matter above, the purpose of the Faculty is not to insist on quantity or to recognize that the mere reading of a stated amount of assigned authors is sufficient preparation for College. In the discussion of the classic authors, both Greek and Latin, the candidate must be prepared to give a complete grammatical analysis of every word, phrase and sentence, and to point out exceptional idioms, and must be informed on the chief points of collateral erudition connected with the text.

ENGLISH.—Higher Grammar.—The candidate must be prepared on the matter contained in Meiklejohn's "The English Language," or some equivalent work.

Composition.—A brief prose composition will be required, evidencing some proficiency in narrative and critical writing. The test will be based upon books and authors assigned for study in the Georgetown College Preparatory School. Questions will be asked as to the subject-matter, method of treatment, structure, and style of these books. Fair penmanship and accurate spelling will be considered as essential preliminary requirements.

The authors assigned for 1905-1906 are: Shelley, Selected Poems (No. 85, Maynard Series); *Wordsworth, Selected Poems (No. 90, Maynard Series); De Quincy, "Flight of a Tartar Tribe;" *Macaulay, Essays on Johnson and on Addison; Milton, "Paradise Lost," two books; *Shakespeare, "Macbeth;" Burke on "Conciliation;" Blackmore, "Lorna Doone."

A careful study of the works marked thus "*" (subject-matter, form and structure) will be exacted. A general acquaintance with the other assigned books will be sufficient.

N. B.—The uniform College entrance requirements in English for 1905-1906 will be accepted, as will any fair equivalent work in this department.

HISTORY.—The History of Greece, Rome, England, and the United States, as found in Bury's History of Greece for Beginners, Schuckburgh's History of Rome for Beginners, Birt's Lingard's History of England, and Montgomery's History of the United States, or some similar text-books. Also the Elements of Civics.

MATHEMATICS.—Algebra; Geometry, plane and solid; Wentworth's Complete Algebra, and Wentworth's Geometry, or works of equal grade.

SCIENCE.—A fair knowledge of Physical Geography.

MODERN LANGUAGES.—One modern language other than the English is required, preferably French or German. The examination will embrace the elements of grammar, including the irregular verbs; translation into English at sight of simple prose; grammatical analysis.

The fees and expenses will be found below on page 25.

ENTRANCE REQUIREMENTS.

The Georgetown College Preparatory School is a High School; hence admission thereto supposes the completion of the regular Grammar School Course—that is, the completion of that course of studies which prepares a boy for admission to a regular High School. Sometimes a boy may be admitted who has not completed the Grammar School Course, but who has so far advanced in English and Arithmetic that he may be able, with more than usual industry, to follow the instruction of the lowest class of the School. It is to be noted that the School is a Classical High School of prescribed studies. Hence every student must take all of its courses, including both Latin and Greek, and no election is allowed except in the case of modern languages, where French or German may be taken at option. It should be clear, therefore, that its preparation is strictly for classical college work and not specialized for technical, scientific, commercial or engineering studies. When the College opens its Engineering Courses the scope of the Preparatory School will then be broadened.

Besides the regular course classes there is a Special Latin and Greek Class maintained in the Preparatory School to enable High School students, who have not taken Latin or Greek, to repair that deficiency. For entrance to this Special Class it is required that a student shall have made at least one year of High School studies. In this class double time is given to the study of Greek, and as soon as a student has graded up in Latin and Greek to the standing of the class for which he is certified in English, History, Mathematics and Modern Languages, he will be at once transferred to that class. The purpose of the Special Class is not to shorten the course, nor will a student be allowed to enter the class except with the above understanding. The class is also open for Greek to students who have qualified for Freshman Class in Georgetown College in all the requirements except Greek.

The fees and expenses will be found below on page 25.

REQUISITES FOR ADMISSION.

The following changes have been made necessary by the adoption of a new Constitution for the Association of American Medical Colleges:

ARTICLE III.

SECTION 1. Every College holding membership in this Association shall demand of each student, as a minimum requirement for admission to the medical course:

(a) A bachelor's degree from an approved college or university.

(b) A diploma from an accredited high school, normal school, or academy requiring for admission evidence of the completion of an eight-year course in primary and intermediate grades, and for graduation not less than four years of study embracing not less than two years (4 points) of foreign language, of which one must be Latin; two years (4 points) of mathematics, two years (4 points) of English, one year (2 points) of history, two years (4 points) of laboratory science, and six years (12 points) of further credit in language, literature, history, or science.

(c) An examination in the following branches:

A. Required (18 points); Mathematics (4 points); English (4 points); History (2 points); Language (two must be Latin, 4 points); Science (taken from physics, chemistry, botany, zoology), 4 points.

B. Optional (to 12 points); English, 2 points; History, 6 points; Language, 6 points; Manual Training, 2 points; Mechanical Drawing, 1 point; Natural Science (botany, biology, zoology), 2 points; Physical Science (chemistry, physics), 2 points; Trigonometry, 1 point; Astronomy (1), Civics (1), Geology (1), Physical Geography (1), Physiology and Hygiene (1), Political Economy (1).

(One point in any subject in a high school or academic course demands not less than five periods per week of forty-five minutes each for eighteen weeks.)

(d) Certificates from reputable instructors recognized by the superintendents hereinafter to be mentioned, or by any State board of medical examiners duly authorized by law, may be accepted in lieu of any part of this examination.

SEC. 2. This examination must be conducted by or under the authority of the superintendent of public instruction of the city or State in which the college is located. In no case shall it be conducted by any person connected with the faculty, medical or otherwise, of the institution to which the student is seeking admission.

SEC. 3. A student may be allowed to enter on his medical work conditioned in not more than six points, and these conditions must be removed by satisfactory examination before he is allowed to enter on the second year of his medical course.

SEC. 4. Colleges in membership in this Association may honor the official credentials presented by students from other colleges having the standard requirements maintained by members of this Association, excepting for the fourth year of their course; but no member of this Association shall admit a student to advanced standing without first communicating with the college from which such student desires to withdraw and receiving from the dean of such college a direct written communication certifying to the applicant's professional and moral qualifications and to the exact work he has done in said college.

SEC. 5. Candidates for the degree of Doctor of Medicine shall have attended four courses of study in four calendar years, each annual course to have been of not less than thirty teaching weeks' duration, and at least ten months shall intervene between the beginning of any course and the beginning of the preceding course.

SEC. 6. Credit may be given to the holder of a Bachelor's Degree from an approved college or university for any work in the medical branches which he has successfully completed in his college course only so far as it is the full equivalent of corresponding work in the medical curriculum. The holder of such Bachelor's Degree may also be given time credits of not exceeding one year, provided that such student has had at least 40 hours in physics, 144 hours in chemistry, 24 hours in osteology, 292 hours in human or comparative anatomy, 124 hours in histology, 85 hours in embryology, 145 hours in physiology, and 46 hours in materia medica, provided that the applicant for such time credits satisfies the professors of the chairs mentioned in the medical school as to his proficiency in these first-year medical studies, or satisfies the examiner, as provided for in Section 2, Article III, that his studies for which the degree was conferred include the above requirements. Such student may be allowed to complete a course for the medical degree in not less than 31 months, provided he completes the remainder of the medical curriculum in that time.

SEC. 8. Each student shall be obliged to attend 80 per cent of the exercises in every annual course of study for which he seeks credit. No student shall be given credit on examination unless he attains a grade of at least 70 per cent, or its equivalent in any other marking system. And no student shall be graduated unless he shall have attained a passing grade in each and all subjects of the required curriculum.

ADVANCED STANDING.

Students who have attended one or more terms at any other Medical College in good standing will be admitted to advanced standing upon passing the examination required of students for the stage at which they propose to enter. Those presenting certificates of examination from other reputable Medical Colleges of equal requirements will be admitted to the respective higher classes without further examination.

Persons not candidates for the degree of M. D. may be admitted without examination as special students, and may attend any of the courses upon giving satisfactory evidence that they are qualified intelligently to avail themselves of the instruction.

REQUISITES FOR ADMISSION.

The Dental Department conforms to the rules and regulations of the National Association of Dental Faculties, of which it is a member, as well as to those of the National Association of Dental Examiners.

In accordance with these regulations, as preliminary examination, equivalent to a certificate of entrance into the third year of a High School, is required as a condition of admission. This will not be required of an applicant who can show that he has covered the work of such examination by furnishing an official certificate to that effect issued by a reputable literary or scientific College, Academy, High School or State Examining Board.

Graduates in medicine are eligible for admission to the second class, and are excused from examination in the studies pertaining to the medical course of recognized institutions.

Those presenting certificates of examination for advanced standing from other reputable Dental Colleges of equal requirements will be admitted to the corresponding higher class without further examination.

Students applying for admission later than ten days after the opening day of the session cannot be credited with a full course unless such delay is due to sickness, which must be vouched for by the certificate of a reputable practicing physician. In such case the date of admission shall not be later than twenty days from the opening day.

Students must continue in attendance until the close of the session in order to obtain credit for a full term.

ENTRANCE REQUIREMENTS.

Candidates for a degree must have received a High School education, or its equivalent, evidence of which must be presented or a preliminary examination will be required.

Candidates for advanced standing—i. e., those desiring to complete the course in one or two years—must, at the time of entry, present certificates of previous study at some approved Law School, or under the direction of a reputable practitioner. Such certificate must show, moreover, that the candidate has passed a satisfactory examination upon the subjects embraced in the first, or first and second years, as the case may be, otherwise an examination will be necessary before he can enter an advanced class. This examination will always be required of those whose study has been carried on under the direction of a practitioner.

FEES AND EXPENSES.

The charge for attendance in the first, second and third years is One Hundred Dollars per annum. As far as payment of tuition is concerned the collegiate year is regarded as divided into two equal terms, beginning on the first Wednesday in October and February, respectively, and one-half the annual charge becomes due and payable on the following day, Thursday. For the accommodations of students the Secretary will, when requested, receive monthly payments, strictly in advance.

Tuition in the fourth, or Post-Graduate Course, is also One Hundred Dollars per annum, payable semi-annually, or in monthly instalments in advance.

Persons enrolling their names as students will be considered as having entered the School for not less than one term, unless an express agreement to the contrary is made. Payment will not be received for less than one full month, nor can any deduction be made for absence.

For attendance on lectures, as hereinbefore stated, the charge is Fifty Dollars per annum, payable in monthly instalments in advance.

The fee for Graduation, which is additional to the yearly charge for attendance, and which includes all expenses of the annual commencement, is Ten Dollars.

COST OF BOARDING, ETC.

There is no boarding department connected with the Law School. The majority of the law students board in Washington City, where the Law School is located, and where the cost of comfortable lodging, board, fuel and gas varies from $20 to $30 per month, according to the location and appointments selected. Satisfactory accommodations can easily be had at $25 per month; and there are every year students who provide for themselves comfortably at a cost of $20 per month, and even less. Tuition is $100 per annum, with no incidental charges except a diploma fee of $10 upon graduation. Cost of text-books is about $30 per annum. The Law School session is from the first Wednesday in October to the first Wednesday in June—about eight months. The necessary expenses for board, lodging, tuition, books, etc., per annum, is, therefore, about $350, exclusive, of course, of clothing and general incidental expenses.

General Statement.

ORGANIZATION.

Georgetown University consists of the COLLEGE, the SCHOOL OF MEDICINE AND SCHOOL OF DENTAL SURGERY, and the SCHOOL OF LAW. The College, however, comprises in itself three distinct departments, viz: The Graduate School, the Undergraduate School, and the Astronomical Observatory. Each School or Department is under the direction of its own Dean, and each Faculty has the power of legislating on its own affairs, but this power can be exercised only in subordination to the President and Directors of the University, and subject to their approval.

HISTORY.

The foundation of Georgetown College was projected as early as the year 1785, when the Rev. John Carroll, afterwards the first Archbishop of Baltimore, formed the plan and proposed it to his associates.

On November 13, 1786, the Corporation of Roman Catholic Clergymen, in the Chapter held at Whitemarsh, Md., adopted a series of "Resolves Concerning the Institution of a School," in which it ordered that a School should be erected at Georgetown, Md., and directed the sale of a piece of land belonging to the corporation, in order that the proceeds might be applied to the erection of the first building. Rev. Messrs. John Carroll, James Pellenz, Robert Molyneux, John Ashton, and Leonard Neale were appointed Directors.

Shortly afterwards an appeal was issued, entitled "Proposals to Establish an Academy at Georgetown, Potowmack River, Maryland." In this circular it was stated that "Agreeably to the liberal Principle of our Constitution, the Seminary will be open to students of Every Religious Profession." In 1788 the erection of the first building was undertaken: yet 1789 is commonly considered the year of the foundation of the College, as the deed of the original piece of ground was dated January 23d in that year. Students were not received before 1791. Upon the reorganization of the Society of Jesus in Maryland, in 1805, the Georgetown College, as it had already begun to be called, was transferred to the Fathers of that Society, under whose control and direction the University still remains.

An act of Congress, dated March 1, 1815, reads as follows:

“CONCERNING THE COLLEGE OF GEORGETOWN IN THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA:

“Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That it shall and may be lawful for such persons as now are, or from time to time may be, the President and Directors of the College of Georgetown, within the District of Columbia, to admit any of the students belonging to said College, or other persons meriting academical honors, to any degree in the faculties, arts, sciences, and liberal professions, to which persons are usually admitted in other Colleges or Universities of the United States; and to issue in an appropriate form the diplomas or certificates which may be requisite to testify to the admission to such degree.

“Speaker of the House of Representatives.

“JOHN GAILLARD,

“President pro tempore of the Senate.

“Approved March 1, 1815.

“JAMES MADISON.”

Two years later the power of granting degrees, thus acquired, was first exercised.

In 1833 the Holy See empowered Georgetown College to confer, in its name, degrees in Philosophy and Theology. The text of the decree is as follows:

“DECRETUM SACRAE CONGREGATIONIS DE PROPAGANDA FIDE.

“Cum R. P. Joannes Roothaan Societatis Jesu Praepositus

The School of Medicine was opened in 1851, and the School of Law in 1870. The Graduate School was in existence as early as 1856, in which year it comprised four resident graduates. The University hospital was opened in 1898 and the training school for nurses in 1903. In 1901 the first session of the Dental School was held.

LOCATION AND EXTRINSIC ADVANTAGES.

In its location at the Capital of the nation, Georgetown University enjoys advantages which can hardly be overestimated and which must necessarily increase with the growth of the country. Not only is the city, free as it is from noise, dirt and distracting surroundings of a great commercial center, most favorable to the tranquil and earnest pursuit of study, but it has an unparalleled educational equipment in the great scientific collections and libraries of the Government. By the authority of Congress all such facilities for research and illustration in the Governmental collections are made accessible to the scientific investigators and students of institutions of higher learning in the District of Columbia.

This provision applies to the Library of Congress, the National Museum, the Patent Office, the Bureau of Education, the Bureau of Ethnology, the Army Medical Museum, the Department of Agriculture, the Fish Commission, the Botanical Gardens, the Coast and Geodetic Survey, the Geological Survey, the Naval Observatory, several hospitals and other departments supplied with special libraries, laboratories and equipment for research. The administration of these bureaus brings together a large corps of scientific workers, and has already made Washington the great scientific as well as political center of the country. One consequence of these conditions is that the scientific societies are numerous and flourishing. Even the presence of the National Government, with its executive, legislative and judicial machinery, is a most powerful agent of education; to be familiar as a matter of daily observation with the workings of the House of Representatives, the Senate, the Supreme Court and the Administration is a privilege and a training which can not be found elsewhere.

Of all these extrinsic facilities, the various Faculties of Georgetown University make full use, and among her instructors are found not a few of the eminent scholars and scientific men employed in the technical service of the Government. Her students meet with a cordial reception and careful assistance in their work in the various libraries, museums and scientific bureaus.

To the advantages enumerated above is added the atmosphere of study and research engendered by the presence of the many universities of which Washington is rapidly becoming the seat.

NEEDS OF THE UNIVERSITY.

The ordinary source of income for the University are the fees of the students. During her history she has received donations greater or less in amount, but with all these her present equipment of buildings and educational apparatus has only been acquired by incurring a considerable debt. Even this much could not have been effected, had not the President and Directors, as well as the other Fathers, the Scholastics, and Lay Brothers of the Society of Jesus, given their services to the University without compensation. Under the present administration every effort is being made to diminish this debt. It is hoped that it may be steadily decreased until it is extinguished, so that after that the students' fees may be used entirely to meet the running expenses of the University, and that thus our financial affairs may be put upon a sound financial basis. Thereafter any further donations may be used to continue the normal development of the University.

The more pressing needs of the University are the following:

1. New and more commodious buildings for the Medical, Dental and Law Schools in the immediate vicinity of the College.

2. The extinction of the debts of these schools, and the foundation of professorial chairs therein.

3. The extinction of the debt of the Georgetown University Hospital, which is located at the corner of 35th and N Streets, N. W., and is an integral part of the Medical School. Means for its further development and support.

4. The foundation of a practical School of Technology to consist at the beginning of at least a School of Civil Engineering, a School of Mechanical Engineering, and a School of Electrical Engineering. This would involve the purchase of ground for the School in the immediate neighborhood of the College, the erection of buildings, the foundation of professorships, and the provision of technological apparatus. Although it is generally known that such a School is not in existence at Georgetown, applications for such instruction are received every year.

5. The erection of a new dormitory building to take the place of the now outworn North Building, which was erected in 1795. The two upper floors of this building formerly used as dormitories, are now lying idle for want of occupants, as the universal demand is for private rooms, and the room capacity of the college is so overtaxed that there is a prospect of having to turn away students for lack of rooms.

6. The completion of the Observatory Equipment, and the foundation of a working fund for the Observatory Staff.

7. The foundation of a salary fund for the Physical Director of the Ryan Gymnasium.

8. Funds for the long contemplated and desired removal of the Preparatory School to a place separated from the college. The location of both in the same buildings and grounds is not conducive to the best interests of either.

9. Funds for the completion of the Faculty Building, including a new infirmary for the Faculty and Students. The Faculty now occupy a large part of the present infirmary. On the completion of the Faculty Building with a new infirmary, the present infirmary would be entirely free for the occupation of the Students and would be well suited for housing the students of the Junior Section of the Preparatory School until such time as it can be removed to another place.

10. Funds to erect a central heating plant for the college. There are now four independent heat centers. Marked economy would result from such a central heating plant.

All bequests should be made to the "President and Directors of Georgetown College in the District of Columbia."

Acknowledgments.

The President and Directors hereby express their grateful acknowledgment to the following friends and benefactors of the University and to all others from whom donations and favors were received during the year :

The College.

ORGANIZATION.

Georgetown College constitutes one of the three greater divisions of Georgetown University, viz.: The College, the Medical School, and the Law School. The College, however, comprises within itself three distinct departments; the Graduate School, the Undergraduate School and the Astronomical Observatory.

SITE AND SURROUNDINGS.

Georgetown College is situated on Georgetown Heights, two and one-half miles distant from the Capitol, overlooking the city of Washington and the Potomac River, and commanding one of the noblest views in the world. The site is healthful, and the climate mild.

The College buildings are nine in number: 1. The Infirmary. 2. The Faculty Building. 3. The Ryan Hall. 4. The Maguire Building. 5. The Healey Building. 6. The North Building. 7. The Ryan Gymnasium. 8. The Dahlgren Chapel. 9. The Observatory. They present an aggregate frontage of about twelve hundred feet. They are surrounded by grounds comprising seventy-eight acres, a large part of which is occupied by the "Walks," whose woodland scenery has made them famous.

ACCOMMODATIONS.

There is a large number of private rooms at the disposal of the students, distributed among the following buildings: The Healey Building, Old North Building, Ida M. Ryan Hall and Maguire Building. The rooms are all simply furnished, and supplied with heat and light.

None but graduates are allowed to board outside of the collegiate premises, unless with immediate relatives.

In the Healey Building the first, second and third floors are devoted to class-rooms. The College Parlors, the Coleman Museum and the Gaston Hall are located in the North Pavilion; the Hirst Reading Room, Collier Hall and the Riggs Library are in the South Pavilion. The fourth and fifth floors are taken up by students' rooms of which there are fifty-two, facing east and west.

In the Old North Building the first floor contains the post-graduate Library and Lecture Room besides five double students' living rooms. The second floor is occupied by students' rooms, of which there are five double and five single.

The Ida M. Ryan Hall, the splendid gift of Mrs. Thomas F. Ryan, was begun in the summer of 1904 and fully opened for occupation in February, 1905. The first floor is occupied by the kitchen, bakery, cold storage, etc. The second floor is taken up by the Students' Dining Room. The remaining three floors are given up to living rooms for students. There are six suites of rooms, facing the Potomac, two on each floor. These suites consist of a study room and two bedrooms opening into a private bath. On each floor there are four single rooms, facing east or west, one double room facing the Potomac, and three double rooms facing north and opening on the college quadrangle. There is a shower and spray bath for the occupants of these rooms on each floor. The rooms are furnished with desk, chairs, wardrobe, chiffonier, washstand, bed and bedding.

Heat, light and service are supplied for all the students' rooms. The charges for rental of these rooms are given below under heading of "Fees and Expenses" on another page.

GENERAL CONSPECTUS OF STUDIES.

The course of studies at Georgetown is carefully and logically graded throughout. The aim of the course is to give the student a complete general and liberal education, which will train and develop all powers of the mind, and will cultivate no one faculty to an exaggerated degree at the expense of the others. It is intended, too, to impart the broadest possible culture, together with accuracy in scholarship. To attain this end, during the Undergraduate period the course is not elective, but is prescribed, and embraces the Latin and Greek Classics; English, in its various branches and aspects and correlated studies, such as Rhetoric, Literature, etc. History, one Modern Language besides English; Mathematics, Physics; Chemistry; the Elements of Geology, Astronomy and Mechanics; and a very thorough training in Rational Philosophy.

The exacting and comprehensive nature of this course may fitly form a subject for comment. It is believed that its requirements are seldom equalled. As an indication of the labor demanded for the successful completion of the course, it may be stated that the amount of time spent in class by all the students varies from twenty to twenty-five hours weekly. To prepare for these classes and recitations, obligatory study for about twenty-three hours per week is exacted. Moreover, students who aim at a high standing, spend much time in study in addition to that which is of obligation.

It is presumed that a man of fair capacity who has conscientiously followed this curriculum under capable professors will be possessed of trained and cultivated faculties, and will have a considerable amount of positive knowledge in every department of learning. He will thus be in touch and intelligent sympathy with progress in every field of intellectual activity, and be saved as far as possible from narrowness and superficiality. Such an education serves, it is believed, as the best foundation for special training in any branch which the student, with his mind now mature and disciplined, may decide to take up. Those who are unable or unwilling to undergo the amount of labor and application necessary to the mastery of the full curriculum will be obliged to go elsewhere. It is especially to be noted that no student will be exempted from any of the prescribed studies, not even from Greek.

It has been the experience of a century or more at Georgetown that a careful training in the classic languages of Latin and Greek has resulted in the development of the mental faculties of the student. It has yet to be demonstrated that there has been found an adequate substitute of educational power. Nay, it has been openly confessed that the omission of the classical languages as a substantial part of a college curriculum has resulted disastrously for liberal education.

METHOD OF INSTRUCTION.

One of the most essential necessities for success in educational work is the possession of natural, thorough and effective methods of teaching. It is necessary, too, that these methods should be uniform in spirit throughout the school, employed equally by all the teachers under whom the student may come. In this respect Georgetown enjoys peculiar advantages. Her teaching is guided by the principles laid down in the famous Ratio Studiorum. This body of rules and suggestions has been elaborated by centuries of experience, and has been judged worthy of attentive study and hearty approbation by the greatest scholars. It is a noteworthy fact that many of the recently devised methods of teaching, such as the Natural, the Inductive and similar plans, are in reality mere repetitions of the devices recommended long ago in the Ratio Studiorum and practiced with varying degrees of fidelity in the colleges of the Society of Jesus.

The development of the mental faculties of a student reduces itself to the training of a lad to the acquisition and embodiment of ideas. He is taught to acquire ideas from without by exact and complete observation and more largely still by a full and accurate appreciation of the ideas of others brought to him both by the spoken and the written word, and this latter chiefly by the great masters of human thought, whose heirs we are. He is taught to acquire ideas from within by right processes of reasoning, and by the proper use of the creative fancy. His embodiment of ideas will be in their communication in the ordinary uses of life; in the literary presentation of his artistic creations; in the clear and powerful urging of his convictions in a fashion to convince the minds and influence the actions of his fellowmen, and in some measure helping to mould the history of his time; in the realization of his practical ideas over matter and force by invention of the best proportioned material reality to accomplish a purpose in view, and so help to use to their fullest the gifts of material wealth and power set before us in the elements of earth, sea and sky. A little careful reflection will justify the traditional training in the liberal arts of grammar, poetics and rhetoric, the sciences of mathematics, mechanics, physics and chemistry, with systematic rational philosophy, as the proper means to accomplish the above development of a student's mental faculties to fullness of adolescent power.

DEPARTMENT OF PHYSICS.

The Department of Physics occupies the first floor of the Maguire Building. A corridor runs through the center of this floor dividing it into two equal parts. Facing the quadrangle on the north is the cabinet which contains the physical apparatus necessary to illustrate a general course of modern physics. Facing the Potomac on the south are the lecture room and the work shop. Rooms and equipment for a laboratory course of physics so necessary to a thorough mastery of physical science are still lacking for want of funds to provide them.

DEPARTMENT OF CHEMISTRY.

The Chemistry Department is situated on the ground floor of the Healey Building and consists of a lecture room and two laboratories. The lecture room is well equipped with all the necessary instruments to demonstrate by experiment the principles given in the lectures. In the two laboratories each student is assigned a desk for his individual work; each desk is fitted with drawer and locker and independent drainage and water and gas supply, while all the necessary chemicals and apparatus are at hand.

BIOLOGY.

The nucleus of a biological collection exists in the college, consisting of a collection of birds, fishes, shells and plants, together with biological charts and skeletons. Anatomical and physiological models, botanical charts and mounted preparations in general biology are still lacking. At present biology is not a course required by the Bachelor's Degree, but when circumstances warrant it provision will be made for courses in biology.

THE COLEMAN MUSEUM.

As early as the year 1840 the collections in Natural History under the care of Fathers James Curley and T. Meredith Jenkins, had become sufficiently extensive to warrant the setting apart of a special room for their preservation and exhibition. Here they remained until 1889, when, prior to the Centenary Celebration, they were transferred to their present quarters, in the north pavilion of the main building. To this hall, by decree of the Faculty, was given the name of James V. Coleman, '69, in acknowledgment of his distinguished benefactions to the College. It is a large, well-lighted room, fitted with cases of cherry wood.

The various collections have been rearranged and displayed and a complete catalogue of the Museum prepared.

Particular attention has been given to the mineral collection, which embraces specimens illustrating the entire field of Mineralogy. Besides the exhibition series, numbering about three thousand specimens, there is a working collection carefully determined and arranged in drawers for the convenience of the classes. A feature of this department is the collection of minerals found in the District of Columbia by Mr. John W. Langdale, and presented by him to the Museum. The collection contains many species not previously known to exist in this locality. Mr. Langdale has also donated several hundred specimens to the general collection, and has always placed at the disposal of the Curator his rare skill as a mineralogist.

In Geology and Paleontology, likewise, there are excellent collections, the rocks and fossils, arranged stratigraphically, occupying an entire row of double cases. Notable among the latter is the unusual number of specimens of the remains of vertebrates, many collected in Alaska. A special building is needed for the proper display of the articles in the museum, which is now overcrowded.

THE ART AND HISTORICAL COLLECTIONS.

The College possesses a valuable collection of works of art, and a number of Maryland Colonial relics. It has long been the wish of the Faculty to increase these collections and give them the prominence they deserve.

Among the paintings are several works of merit by ancient and modern masters, two mosaic pictures of great beauty and value, several busts in marble or bronze, an admirable portrait of the Founder of the College, Archbishop John Carroll, painted by Gilbert Stuart, and presented by Judge P. Ord. A full-length portrait of Mrs. Henry S. Lehr, painted by Muller Ury, adorns the first parlor.

In the room of the Philodemic Society, which has been newly decorated and furnished, is a series of portraits and photographs of distinguished alumni. It is hoped that they will add to this collection from time to time.

Two gentlemen have lately enriched the College with a number of valuable engravings, prints and photographs, which have been employed to adorn the walls of the parlors and the various classrooms.

George D. Mackay, Esq., of New York, presented forty-five engravings, mezzotints, coppers, photographs, etc., of unusually large size, collected abroad, and embracing signed Dore, Martins, etc.

William Vincent McGrath, Jr., '87, decorated many of the recitation halls, with a gallery of forty-two murillo-tints mounted in highly artistic frames.

THE BEAUCHAMP HUGHES ART CABINET.

The Beauchamp Hughes Art Cabinet, with its rare collection of precious laces, pictures, ancient manuscripts, bronzes, china, and bric-a-brac, is much admired.

THE RIGGS MEMORIAL LIBRARY.

The liberal spirit of Mr. E. Francis Riggs, of Washington, has furnished the College collection of books with a fitting home, in the South Pavilion. A tablet erected by the Faculty attests the devotion with which the founder dedicated his gift to the memory of his father, the late Mr. George W. Riggs, and his brother, Mr. Thomas Laurason Riggs, once a student of the College.

The central reading room is lighted from the sides and ceiling, and since the introduction of electricity, is available at all hours. The alcoves are designed to afford shelf-room for 104,000 volumes, and are furnished with comfortable appliances for study and consultation.

The collection of books is estimated at more than 90,000. Among these are many rare, curious and unique works. One hundred volumes printed between the years 1472 and 1520; three manuscripts anterior to the fifteenth century, and others of later periods, together with a number of fac-similes, such as the Duke de Loubat's splendid reproductions in photo-chromography of ancient Aztec MSS., interest the visitor.

In the department of Fine Arts, the taste and liberality of the Rev. James J. Chittick, of Hyde Park, Mass., are building up a notable collection of books embracing galleries of paintings, histories and treatises dealing with art and biographies of the great masters.

It will afford librarians and bibliophiles particular pleasure to find in the Riggs, illustrations of many nice points of their specialty in editions, bindings, bookplates, etc. Among the libraries incorporated in it is that of the historian, John Gilmary Shea, LL. D., which is valuable for Americana and Indian languages.

THE HIRST LIBRARY.

The students of the senior division owe a debt of gratitude to Anthony A. Hirst, LL. D., of Philadelphia. He has completed, at an expense of $4,200, the bookstack of oak and iron in the hall of the south pavilion which serves them as their library. This contains about 5,000 volumes selected with the view of furnishing the student with the means of reference as well as entertainment. Combined with it is the reading room in which newspapers from the chief cities of the country, together with the leading reviews and magazines, are kept on file. Both are open to graduate and undergraduate students, subject to a fee, necessary to defray ordinary expenses.

DISCIPLINE.

The discipline in force at Georgetown is in nowise military. It has only in view the safeguarding of those hours of study so necessary to prepare for attendance at class, and the punctual and regular attendance at the various College exercises, which is required to produce that intellectual and moral training which it is Georgetown's aim to impart. To safeguard the evening hours of study so suitable for preparation for class, students will be allowed to go out after dinner only on Wednesday and Saturday evenings, on condition that they have maintained an average of 60 per cent in their studies and have comported themselves as young gentlemen in the house. It is presumed that under these conditions, these two evening recreations during the week can not be harmful to either their studies or their morals. This permission to go out after dinner is a privilege, which may be withdrawn if the conditions above mentioned are not satisfied.

To safeguard their punctual and regular attendance at class and other College exercises hour by hour from the very beginning to the very end of the year is a more difficult matter, but one of the utmost importance. What is learned from the living voice of the teacher is acquired more thoroughly and more completely. The friction of mind with mind in the class room, the work of emulation and work in concert, the proposal of difficult points not explained by the text book and their solution, the repetition in public of the whole lesson are some of the more important agencies at work during the hour of class, which can not be well supplied out of class, and so an hour of class lost is a distinct and in some sense an irreparable loss. And it is not only a loss of mental training, it is a serious menace to the regularity of College discipline. The absence of one suggests, perhaps encourages, the absence of another, and so gradually a noticeable absenteeism arises which enervates regular attendance and discourages the teacher in his efforts to impart knowledge to his whole class. Hence it is that leave of absence from College during term time will never be granted except for the most imperative reasons, on the written request of the parent or guardian with the endorsement of the Prefect of Studies and the Prefect of Discipline and at the sole discretion of the President. Parents are earnestly requested to co-operate with us in our work of maintaining regular attendance at class from the very first hour to the very last hour of the year. Hence they are not expected to request that their sons should be exempted from class when they come to visit Washington, nor are they supposed to ask that their sons may go to their homes during term time, except for the most imperative reasons, as mentioned above. There is a special reason why parents should not request that their sons should be absent over Sunday. It is that on Sunday morning the formal religious influence of the college is exerted by means of sermons and sodalities. They are requested to see that their sons return promptly at the beginning of the term, and to insist that they remain to the very end. Should they act otherwise a painful situation is created for the President of the University. His duty to Georgetown requires him not to accede to the request that has been made, and yet this makes him seem to antagonize the parent before his son, and this tends to belittle the parent's authority in his son's eyes. Those parents who are not earnestly resolved to co-operate with us in this matter, and who can not bring themselves to this way of thinking would do well to place their sons in other institutions which are conducted more in accordance with their own views. Any other course will be productive of dissatisfaction both on their part and on our own. The regulations which have been made for the conduct of athletic sports have only in view the purpose of safeguarding the hours of study and of the hours of class from interruption. It is thought that a student who passes through the discipline above outlined will graduate from Georgetown an educated gentleman disciplined in mind and heart for the business of life.

RELIGIOUS INSTRUCTION.

Religious instruction is considered of the first importance in education, but students not of the Catholic faith are exempt from the instruction given at the College.

Christian Doctrine is one of the regular class recitations, weekly lectures of one hour being given in each class. The matter is so divided for the different classes that in the four years of college the student will cover the whole ground of Catholic faith in rational fashion. In addition a weekly instruction of one-half hour is given all the college students together along some line of Christian Morals, so arranged as to give the student a clear understanding of the same before he graduates. A Gold Medal is awarded at the end of the year to the author of the best paper on the matter of these lectures.

Further instruction is given to such as have need of it, or are preparing for the Sacraments. For the development of piety there is a Sodality which meets weekly, and a Georgetown center of the Apostleship of Prayer. All Catholic students are expected to approach the Sacraments at least once a month.

THE CHAPEL OF THE SACRED HEART.

In the College Quadrangle stands the Chapel of the Sacred Heart of Jesus, measuring 109 feet in extreme length, and varying in breadth from 40 to 60 feet. This structure is the generous gift of the wife of an alumnus, Mrs. John Vinton Dahlgren (Mrs. Henry Symes Lehr), nee Elizabeth Drexel. The Chapel was consecrated on Friday, June 9, 1893. Its seating capacity is about 500. The College thus possesses a beautiful edifice, wherein the services of the Church may be performed with fitting solemnity and dignity.

SESSIONS AND HOLIDAYS.

The Academic Year is divided into two terms:

The first term in 1908-1909 will begin September 17, 1908, and will end January 30, 1909. The second term will begin February 2, 1909, and end June 14, 1909.

The Christmas recess begins on December 21st (11.30 A. M.), and ends on January 4th (6.00 P. M.). The Easter recess extends from Wednesday, in Holy Week, to the Wednesday after Easter.

There is no class on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons, nor on days of general religious or National observance.

The classes begin at 9 A. M. and continue until 12. They are resumed at 1 and continue until 3 P. M., with ten minutes intermission between classes.

EXAMINATIONS AND PROMOTIONS.

A general examination in all classes is held in writing toward the close of each term. Supplementary oral examinations are also exacted.

Promotions ordinarily take place at the beginning of the first term. They will rarely be made at any other time.

AWARDS AND REPORTS.

The prizes, at the Annual Distribution in June, are awarded to those who, by their class exercises during the year and the excellence of their examinations, attain the required number of marks. Absentees are not allowed to make up marks. Students, therefore, who remain at home beyond the period allotted for vacation or recess can not expect to hold distinguished places in their classes, and students who withdraw before the final examinations will not be promoted.

Besides the Annual Distribution of Awards in the Undergraduate School, the Faculty and students are assembled at the beginning of every month, when the marks and standing of the students in their respective classes for the preceding month are publicly proclaimed, and testimonials awarded to those who have attained the prescribed degree of excellence.

Four reports of the standing in class, the progress and general conduct of every student are sent to his parents or guardian every year, to wit: at the end of November, after the mid-year examinations, at the end of April and after the final examinations in June.

Students holding scholarships must sustain a monthly average of 75 per cent in each of their classes or forfeit the scholarship.

PRIZES OPEN FOR GENERAL COMPETITION.

These prizes are open to competition only to students of regular classes, whose record in class is over 60 marks monthly.

ACADEMIC COSTUME.

The University cap and gown are worn by the Senior Class of the College, and on the more solemn academic occasions their use is obligatory. All graduates of the University are entitled to wear the complete academic costume, consisting of gown, cap and hood. All members of the Faculty who hold a degree from another institution of learning may wear the hood proper to the corresponding degree of this University.

It is hoped that at all commencements and other gatherings of an academic character this right will be exercised by those possessed of it.

The hood indicates in every case the wearer's degree. The Bachelor's hood is ten inches shorter than the Master's, while the Doctor's hood, of the same length as the Master's, is attached to a panel of the same material as that of the hood itself. The department in which the degree was taken is pointed out by the color of the edging, white designating Arts and Sciences; blue, Philosophy; purple, Law; green, Medicine; scarlet, Theology, etc. The interior of the hood is lined with the College colors, blue and gray, in silk.

In the foregoing and all other particulars, the hood adopted by Georgetown follows the intercollegiate agreement.

Graduate School.

The first record of graduate students in residence is found in the catalogue of 1855-6. In that year there were four such students. The catalogue of this year thus describes the course that was pursued: "Students who desire to pursue further the Philosophical course may in a second year apply to Natural Right, which besides a more enlarged course of Ethics will embrace the fundamental principles of Civil, Political and International Right, and a critical history of Philosophy. Natural Philosophy will be continued and embellished by the study of Natural History."

There is no further mention of resident graduate students found in the catalogue until 1883. In the year 1883-4 there are recorded seven graduate students in law, and three candidates for the M. A. degree resident in the college. The above mentioned catalogue describes the courses offered as follows: "The degree of Master of Arts in course is conferred upon Bachelors of Arts who have passed satisfactory examinations in the post-graduate courses of Ethics and Natural Philosophy." There is no further evidence of such students found in the college catalogues until 1891. In the sixteen years following earnest and strenuous efforts were made to recruit students for the Graduate School. Numerous scholarships, including board, lodging and tuition, were offered in return for tutorial, clerical and other services. Money prizes were offered for the best work done. The number and extent of the courses offered was increased, and the size of the teaching faculty was augmented. A degree of A. B. or B. S. was accepted as a condition of entrance irrespective of the courses of study pursued to obtain them. As the catalogue put it: "When the student enters the Graduate School he is almost freed from restrictions of every kind."

The effect of these measures adopted through this period of sixteen years to increase attendance at the Graduate School is shown in the following table:

Scholastic Year.	Students
	In Residence.	In course.
1891-2	4	8
1892-3	9	9
1893-4	9	9
1894-5	8	8
1895-6	15	15
1896-7	8	38
1897-8	10	22
1899-1900	12	12
1900-1	6	8
1901-2	5	11
1902-3	4	8
1903-4	9	16
1904-5	7	14
1905-6	4	15
1906-7	2	2

In the year 1905-6 all scholarships in the Graduate School were withdrawn. And in the year 1906-7 it was required that only graduates of colleges whose requirements for the A. B. are substantially the same as those of Georgetown would be received and that graduate students in residence should be subject to the general regulations of undergraduate resident students. Under these prescriptions so necessary for maintaining a proper standard of scholarship and discipline the attendance at the Graduate School has so fallen off that during the present year, 1907-8, no graduate students have matriculated. Under such conditions it is obvious that courses can not be provided and professors supplied unless an adequate number of students matriculate. Hence for the year 1908-9 the following general regulation will be in force: Graduate students desiring to matriculate in the Georgetown University Graduate School must signify their intention to the Prefect of Studies before July 1, 1908.

On August 1, 1908, should the number of those who desire to matriculate warrant it announcement of the courses to be offered in the Graduate School for 1908-9 will be made to those who have made application to the Prefect of Studies.

BUILDING AND EQUIPMENT.

With regard to the building and equipment the following description will be of interest to our friends. The Observatory stands on an eminence at a distance of about four hundred years from the College. The main building is sixty feet long and thirty feet wide, and is divided from east to west into three rooms. The eastern room contains a nine-inch photographic transit instrument, with collimators, by Saegmuller, of Washington. In the western room is mounted a transit instrument, by Ertel & Son, of Munich. It is seven feet long and has four-and-one-half-inch object-glass. The middle part of the Observatory is three stories high, surmounted by a rotary dome eighteen feet in diameter. Here is erected the twelve-inch equatorial.

In the room below the dome is the library containing the observations and other publications of nearly all the observatories in the world.

Under the library is the clock room, with four pendulum clocks and two chronometers, chronograph, and a switchboard from which the electrical connections with all the instruments are made. A special line connects the switchboard with the United States Naval Observatory.

All the instruments and rooms are furnished with electric light. The electrical apparatus of the observatory is worked by a storage battery which is charged from the same current by means of a dynamo and transformer. This new plant was set up in the basement of the observatory by Rev. Richard Martin, S. J.

A separate dome, twelve feet in diameter, on the southwest brow of the hill, shelters the old equatorial, by Troughton & Simms, which has an aperture of nearly five inches.

An extension added to the eastern side of the main building contains an instrument for the determination of the variations of latitude; the photographic zenith telescope.

The nine-inch photographic transit instrument has been provided with a Riefler clock in an air-tight case, the donation of the late Miss Catherine Bruce.

The first experiments have proved this instrument to be of excellent construction.

PUBLICATIONS.

Series IV of the Atlas of Variable Stars was published during the past year. It comprises nearly half the total number of charts in the Atlas.

It is hoped that there will be published during the current year the sixty-three charts supplementary to Series I, II and III for which the necessary observations were made here by the former director, Father Hagen.

The observations needed for further supplements to the Atlas are now being made here. But the publication of the results must be deferred until a sufficient number of charts have been completed.

The Observatory now enjoys the benefits of a station under southern skies. Rev. Father Goetz, S. J., who spent over a year at our Observatory to familiarize himself with our methods in making the Atlas Stellarum Variabilium, is now stationed at Bulawayo, Rhodesia, in South Africa. The charts observed by him have appeared as a supplement to our Series V. But his astronomical work has been hampered by want of means.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS.

We are pleased to mention several donations made to the Observatory. The principal benefaction came from three sisters, Mrs. Annie Donahue and Mrs. Eleanor Martin, of San Francisco, Cal., and Miss Winifred Martin, of Baltimore, Md., who made an agreement to unite in donating to the College Observatory an endowment fund of $25,000. Mrs. Donahue, by her will, left to the Observatory a third part of that sum, amounting to $8,333.34, which has been paid to the College, and $5,555 has been received from the executors of Miss Winifred Martin's will.

Professor Edward C. Pickering, Director of the Harvard College Observatory, has donated to our Observatory enlargements of star photographs, and photometric determinations of star magnitudes to help in the preparation of some of the charts of the Atlas.

The annual publications of all the observatories of the world have been received as in former years. Among these the international astrographic chart, the printing of which has been commenced lately, forms the most valuable part.

The warmest thanks of the Observatory are tendered to all the benefactors and donors.

ATHLETICS.

The position of Georgetown on the question of Athletic Sports among our students is that they are a legitimate source of recreation, of healthful exercise, of generous rivalry and manly spirit, in a word that they are a useful means for the physical and moral development of the students. The College, therefore, has put within reach of students whatever will make for these purposes, and has set such restrictions as will prevent, as far as may be, the abuse of college sport to the detriment of scholarship, manliness, and gentlemanly courtesy. Our idea of intercollegiate competition in the field of sport is to bring such contests as closely as possible to the model of one gentleman playing with another for a gentleman's recreation. In pursuit of this ideal, the authorities of the University have moved steadily toward the elimination of excess, brutality, commercialism and ungenerous rivalry in an overweening desire to win. Their efforts have resulted in lighter teams, cleaner play, and more frequent defeats. But the student body has shown its hearty appreciation of the absence of unscholarly athletes, of coarse companionship, and have readily learned to win by fair, clean, methods, with manly spirit and to take defeat in their turn with the self-control of gentlemen.

The practical system of athletics in vogue at Georgetown is wholly under the management of the students subject to the supervision of the Faculty Director of Athletics. They have been organized for this purpose into the Georgetown University Athletic Association, incorporated according to the laws of the District of Columbia. The articles of incorporation are as follows:

"First. The name by which said Association shall be known in law is The Georgetown University Athletic Association.

"Second. The term for which said Association is organized shall be perpetual.

"Third. The particular business and objects of said Association are the mutual improvement of the students of Georgetown University, the encouragement and promotion of their physical education and development, and the direction, management and carrying on of the athletic sports, games and exercises of the students of said University.

"Fourth. The directors or managers of said Association for the first year of its existence shall be four in number and their names are as follows: John M. Stuart, Thomas A. McCann, Joseph I. McLaughlin, Edward J. Crummey."

The directors have for the purpose above set forth organized the Association under a constitution and by-laws into its various departments of foot ball, base ball, basket ball, track athletics and rowing, each department under the direction of its own officials.

In furtherance of their work the University has entered into an agreement with the Association, whereby the Association has for its use for the athletic purposes of the University the athletic equipment of the same, while the University is safeguarded against its alienation. The agreement is as follows:

THIS AGREEMENT, Made this 21st day of September, 1906, by and between the President and Directors of Georgetown College, a corporation, party of the first part, and The Georgetown University Athletic Association, a corporation, party of the second part:

WITNESSETH, That for and in consideration of the covenants hereinafter agreed to be kept and performed, and further, in consideration of the sum of Ten Dollars and other valuable considerations to it in hand paid by the party of the second part, the said party of the first part does hereby grant unto the party of the second part the right to the exclusive use and enjoyment of all of the athletic equipment and paraphernalia now owned or controlled by the said party of the first part, the title thereto being hereby expressly reserved in the said party of the first part; said equipment consisting of the grand stand and bleachers on Georgetown field; the boats, shells and furnishings for the same, now used by the boat club, also the steam launch "Georgetown"; the rowing machines now on the college premises; and the athletic trophies on exhibition in Coleman Museum and elsewhere in the college, and all other paraphernalia heretofore used by the said party of the second part.

It is covenanted and agreed by the party of the second part that all future equipment that may be purchased from time to time by the party of the second part for use in carrying on the athletic sports of said association, shall be and become the absolute property of the party of the first part, subject only to the right of the party of the second part to the use and enjoyment thereof.

It is further covenanted and agreed that neither the party of the first part nor the equipment hereinbefore described or referred to, or which may be hereafter acquired, shall in any way become or be made liable for the debts or other legal obligations of the party of the second part or its officers; further, the said party of the first part shall have the right at any time to resume possession of all of its said property and such additions thereto as may from time to time be made, whenever in its opinion said property or any part thereof is in danger of destruction, seizure or loss.

It is further covenanted and agreed that no part of said equipment or any addition thereto shall ever be sold, transferred, assigned or in any manner disposed of without the consent in writing of the party of the first part being first had and obtained; and it is agreed that the said party of the second part shall at all times keep and maintain all of said equipment, and the additions thereto, that may be made from time to time, in good condition and repair, at its own cost and expense.

It is further understood and agreed that the covenants and agreements herein contained are binding on the parties hereto and their legal representatives, and no waiver of one breach of any covenant herein shall be construed to be a waiver of the covenant itself or of any subsequent breach thereof.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF the said party of the first part has caused these presents to be signed by David H. Buel, its President, and attested by Charles Macksey, its Secretary, and its corporate seal to be hereunto affixed; and the said party of the second part has caused these presents to be signed by John M. Stuart, its President, and attested by J. Herbert Doyle, its Secretary, and said parties of the first and second parts do hereby constitute and appoint Michael J. Colbert their true and lawful attorney in fact, for them and each of them, and in their names and stead to appear before any officer in said District authorized by law to take acknowledgments of deeds, and then and there to acknowledge and deliver these presents as the act and deed of the President and Directors of Georgetown College and of The Georgetown University Athletic Association.

Attest:

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA, to wit:

I, Richard J. Watkins, a Notary Public in and for said District, do hereby certify that Michael J. Colbert, the person named in the foregoing and annexed agreement, dated the 21st day of September, 1906, as attorney in fact for the President and Directors of Georgetown College and The Georgetown University Athletic Association, the parties to the said agreement, personally appeared before me in said District, the said Michael J. Colbert being personally well known to me as the person named in said agreement as such attorney in fact, and he then and there acknowledged said agreement to be the act and deed of the President and Directors of Georgetown College and of The Georgetown University Athletic Association.

Given under my hand and official seal this 22d day of September, 1906.

RICHARD J. WATKINS,

Notary Public, D. C.

In addition the alumni of the University have through a committee appointed for that purpose presented the Athletic Association with a floating Boat House on the Potomac River. The profits arising from the sale of sundries in the College Book Store are also available for the expenses of the rowing department. The expenses of the Association are further met by the gate receipts at the home intercollegiate contests and by an assessment upon the college students who are members of the Association.

The functions of the Faculty Director of Athletics have been defined by the President of the University as follows:

"His duty shall be solely to prevent abuses that may arise in the student conduct of athletic affairs. It shall be his duty to make sure that none but bona fide students take part in athletic sports; that no favoritism is exercised in the selection of the various teams; that the financial officers of the associations give adequate bonds for the proper handling of the funds committed to their charge; that the Constitution of the Athletic Association is faithfully carried out and that annual financial statements of receipts and expenditures are published through the proper channels.

"The Faculty Director of Athletics will have no direct relations with the members of the various teams. In all his duties he will deal directly with the officials of the Athletic Association, for example, in regard to questions of eligibility, selections of members of the various teams, etc."

The following concrete rulings have been given by the President of the University to prevent the undue encroachment of athletics upon study:

I. ELIGIBILITY.

Faculty Rule of Eligibility.

No one is eligible as a candidate for any athletic team, who is not in good standing as a bona fide student of the university. The sole judge as to whether a man is such a bona fide student or not is the Faculty Director of Athletics. The President's concept of a bona fide student is of one who comes to the University primarily to acquire its intellectual training and engages in sport solely for sport's sake, to relax the mind and improve the body, and to fit both alike for more strenuous and prolonged mental effort. One, therefore, whose primary object in coming to Georgetown is to study, and who only engages in athletics when they are not detrimental to study, and only to relax his mind and improve his body, is a bona fide student. Hence one who has been induced to come to Georgetown by some compensation of pecuniary value, in order that he may engage in athletics, is not a bona fide student. One who engages in athletics in spite of the written disapprobation of his professor or professors is not a bona fide student. One whose athletic work unfits his mind and body for mental work is not a bona fide student.

In each and every case the Faculty Director ought to weigh all the circumstances carefully and decide whether a man is a bona fide student or not, according to his best judgment, without fear or favor, having in view only the keeping far from Georgetown even the suspicion of commercialism and professionalism.

A man before being accepted as a candidate for any team must file with the manager written evidence of his good standing in his department; this is to be presented to the Faculty Director. He in turn is to endorse or reject the statement and return it to the managers not later than forty-eight hours before any contest in which it is desired to have the man compete.

When a man has been declared eligible according to the Faculty rule, "he may be made amenable to any other rules not in conflict with the above, which the Athletic Association may choose to formulate."

II. OUT OF TOWN GAMES.

1. The schedule arranged for each of the departments known as Foot Ball, Field and Track, Rowing and Basket Ball must not involve absence from Washington for more than two days on which classes are usually held, and the contests must take place on Saturdays or on National or State Holidays.

The schedule arranged for Base Ball must not involve absence from Washington for more than four days on which classes are usually held, and the games must be played either on Saturdays or on National or State Holidays.

2. The Foot Ball, Base Ball, Basket Ball and Relay Teams, and also the Crew, shall have contests only with other University, College, or Academic teams or crews, and the track contestants only at intercollegiate or interscholastic meets.

3. In all matters pertaining to Faculty control the various managers must deal with the Faculty Director of Athletics.

4. All regulations contained under the heading Athletics, pp. 76-82 of the General Catalogue of 1905-1906, not in conflict with the preceding regulations are to remain in full force for 1907-1908.

III. THE TRAINING TABLE at the College has been abolished. A training table outside the College has been found inexpedient.

In addition to the Departments of sport managed by the Athletic Association, there is a Billiard Association and a Lawn Tennis Association under student control.

Since the construction of the Ryan Gymnasium a competent Physical Director has been provided by the College. He superintends the physical drill and gymnastic exercise of the students, subjects each of those who wish to make use of the gymnasium to a physical examination and prescribes for each that kind and amount of gymnastic exercise which is necessary to his health and general physical development. A fee of ten dollars is imposed upon all the college students for the use of the gymnasium; students from other departments of the University are also admitted to the use of the gymnasium on payment of the same fee. In this connection the President of the University has issued the following ruling:

"No one is to use the floor of the gymnasium or the apparatus installed thereon or the professional services of the Physical Director, who has not paid the gymnasium fee. Certified candidates for the Crew, Nine, Eleven and Track Team may use the Varsity Rubbing Room, Locker Room and Showers; candidates for the Crew, properly certified, may have the use of the Rowing Room."

The Faculty Director of Athletics at the University is Rev. Charles Macksey, S. J. The officers of the Athletic Association for 1906-1907 were: John M. Stuart, '06, President; J. Herbert Doyle, '06, Secretary; Thomas A. McCann, '06, Treasurer; Thomas A. McCann, '06, Manager of Foot Ball; Edward J. Crummey, '07, Manager of Field and Track; Joseph I. McLaughlin, '07, Manager of Base Ball; John M. Stuart, '06, Manager of Crew.

DEGREES.

The successful completion of the Undergraduate Course entitles a student to the degree of Bachelor of Arts. No other first degree is given in the college, those of Bachelor of Science and Bachelor of Philosophy having been abolished by action of the Faculty.

REQUIREMENTS FOR ADMISSION.

Students may enter at any time during the session, and, on examination, will be assigned to the class for which their prior attainments have fitted them.

Satisfactory testimonials of good conduct will be required of those who come from other institutions.

Candidates for admission to the advanced classes must pass a satisfactory examination upon all the subjects previously studied by the class which they propose to enter.

From certain preparatory schools of established reputation students are admitted to the Freshman class without examination, upon the principal's certificate that they have completed the required amount of work and are prepared to enter college.

In each case, however, a catalogue giving the course of studies required in his school must accompany the principal's certificate. The Georgetown College Preparatory School Catalogue may be had on application to the Prefect of Studies.

In all other cases for admission to Freshman, a successful examination is required in the following subjects or their equivalent.

LATIN.—Grammar.—The entire Latin Grammar, including a knowledge of all regular syntactical constructions. Translation into Latin at sight of complex English sentences, entailing the application of rules for relative clauses, indirect discourse, and conditional sentences.

Prosody.—All the rules as given in Casserly's Prosody or some equivalent work; application to hexameter verse; scansion of Ovid and Virgil. A simple exercise will be exacted in the rearrangement of broken verse.

Latin Composition.—Translation into Latin of easy continuous prose based upon Caesar and Cicero. This requirement is of very especial importance, and great weight will be given to it in the examination. The use of Cicero's letters as well as his orations as models for the requirements of Latin idiom is strongly recommended.

Nepos.—Lives, to the end of the life of Alcibiades; also the life of Atticus. Caesar.—Commentaries, two books.

Ovid.—Metamorphoses, 500 lines; Tristia, 500 lines.

Cicero.—Selected letters, five hundred lines; orations, the four against Cataline. Virgil.—Aeneid, three books.

GREEK.—Grammar.—Etymology complete (including all the irregular and defective forms); the rules for accents; the rules of syntax and their application; the Homeric dialect.

Greek Composition.—Translation into Greek of simple English sentences based upon Xenophon's Anabasis.

Xenophon.—Anabasis, Book I. II and III.

Homer.—Iliad, Books I and II, or Odyssey, I, II and III.

N. B.—In assigning the matter above, the purpose of the Faculty is not to insist on quantity or to recognize that the mere reading of a stated amount of assigned authors is sufficient preparation for college. In the discussion of the classic authors, both Greek and Latin, the candidate must be prepared to give a complete grammatical analysis of every word, phrase, and sentence, and to point out exceptional idioms, and must be informed on the chief points of collateral erudition connected with the text.

ENGLISH.—Higher Grammar.—The candidate must be prepared on the matter contained in Meiklejohn's "The English Language," or some equivalent work.

Composition.—A brief prose composition will be required evidencing some proficiency in narrative and critical writing. The test will be based upon books and authors assigned for study in the Georgetown College Preparatory School. Questions will be asked as to the subject-matter, method of treatment, structure, and style of these books. Fair penmanship and accurate spelling will be considered as essential preliminary requirements.

The authors assigned are: Shelley, Selected Poems (No. 85, Maynard Series). *Wordsworth, Selected Poems (No. 90, Maynard Series). De Quincey, Flight of a Tartar Tribe. *Macaulay, Essays on Johnson and on Addison. Milton, Paradise Lost (two books), Ode to the Nativity, L'Allegro and Penseroso. *Shakespeare, Merchant of Venice. Tennyson, Morte d'Arthur. Lamb's Essays of Elia. Ruskin, Sesame and Lilies. Thackeray, Henry Esmond. A careful study of the works marked thus (subject-matter, form and structure) will be exacted; a general acquaintance with the other assigned books will be sufficient.

N. B.—The Uniform College Entrance Requirements in English will be accepted, as will any fair equivalent work in this department.

HISTORY.—Bible History as found in Richards, Greek (Bury), Rome (Schuckburgh), English (Lingard), United States (Montgomery), or as found in some equivalent author. Elements of Civics.

MATHEMATICS.—Algebra; Geometry, plane and solid. Wentworth's Complete Algebra, and Wentworth's Geometry, or works of equal grade.

SCIENCE.—A fair knowledge of Physical Geography.

MODERN LANGUAGES.—One modern language besides English is required, preferably French or German. The examination will embrace the elements of Grammar, including the irregular verbs; translation into English at sight of simple prose; grammatical analysis.

GENERAL REGULATIONS.

No distinction is made in the reception of students on the ground of religious belief. Students not of the Catholic faith, if they do not wish to attend the Religious Exercises of the college, will be exempt therefrom, but are then required to conform in matter of church service to the obligations of their own belief.

No student will be allowed to remain at the college during the summer vacation.

The introduction of intoxicating liquors as well as of immoral books or papers, will render the offender liable to expulsion, as will any grave offence against morals or discipline.

There is a fixed hour for students in residence to rise, take their meals, attend chapel for daily Mass, and Benediction on Sundays and Holy Days, and to assist at night prayers. Parents who enter their sons are understood to agree that they should conform to these regulations.

Day-scholars and half-boarders, while within the College walls, are subject to the regulations of boarders.

Students from the Medical School are not received to board or lodge at the College, but must secure board and lodgings in the city. Students from the Law School may board and lodge at the College only in case of taking at the same time graduate courses at the College. Graduate students may enter the College either as boarders or day-scholars. Undergraduate students are not received as day-scholars unless they are living with their parents or guardians. Students are not allowed to lodge at the College and board outside the College.

No room will be reserved for a student unless the application for the same be accompanied by a deposit of one-tenth of the rental. Applications may be handed in at any time; yet, in order that students in residence during the year may have time to counsel with their parents or guardians about their return the following year, no assignment will be made for the coming year before July 25th. The former holder of a room will have claim on that room up to July 25th, after which, if not engaged then by him, it will be considered vacant. The earliest applicant will have right to any vacant room, if his application is accompanied by one-tenth of the rental, as above prescribed. The senior applicant, in case of two applying at the same time for the same room, will be given the preference. The right to a room for which a deposit has been paid expires on the evening of September 17, 1908.

Damage to College property is repaired at the expense of the student who inflicts it.

In the Sophomore year there is a charge of $10 per annum for the use of chemicals.

Degrees will not be conferred upon students whose debts to the College remain unpaid on June 1st, 1908.

Articles of clothing will not be furnished by the College unless a deposit for that purpose be made with the Treasurer, who will give a detailed account of its outlay in his regular semi-annual statement.

No bills for clothing or other articles will be acknowledged unless the purchase has been authorized by the Treasurer of the College.

Books and stationery may be obtained at the College Bookstore.

Whatever sums parents or guardians allow their sons or wards for pocket money, may be deposited with the Treasurer, who will disburse the same according to instructions received, or as circumstances may require. No advance will be made beyond the deposit.

Dues for the different student organizations, as the Athletic Association, the Debating Society, etc., must be paid by the students from their pocket money, and no student will be allowed to have such dues charged in upon the bill to be sent to parents or guardians.

Every student from outside the United States must have a guardian in the vicinity, who shall be responsible for his bills and receive him in case of dismissal. The same may be required for students from very distant States in the Union.

ANNOUNCEMENT FOR 1908.

The complete course of study in the Medical Department extends over four terms of eight months each.

The demands of modern medical education are such that the Faculty has found it necessary to extend the hours of instruction, so that more time may be given to practical work in laboratories and hospitals. The instructions will, therefore, begin in the morning and continue throughout the day. Students are required to devote their entire time to the study of medicine.

Special attention is called to the advantages of the method of teaching adopted in this school. It enables each student to come into more intimate relation with his teachers in laboratory and hospital work, and in connection with the system of recitations adopted makes instruction more directly personal and adapted to the special needs of the individual, and prepares graduates for the rigid examinations for admission into the Medical Corps of the Army, Navy, and Marine Hospital Service. Of the 29 applicants for the Army, Navy, and Marine Hospital Service since 1898, 28 passed, and only one failed.

The building of this department is conveniently situated on H street, northwest, between Ninth and Tenth Streets, near several of the principal railway lines. It contains spacious and well-ventilated lecture rooms, chemical, histological, bacteriological, and physiological laboratories, a convenient and well-lighted dissecting room, a library and reading room for the use of students. The laboratories are equipped with the latest and most approved instruments and appliances, including an ample number of microscopes of high power.

These will greatly enhance the facilities for instruction, and will enable every student to master more readily the technical skill needed in modern important methods of medical research. The Laboratory courses may be taken independently of the lectures.

Congress, during the session of 1901, appropriated sufficient funds for the erection of a Laboratory in connection with the Marine Hospital Bureau for the investigation of infectious and contagious diseases and other matters pertaining to public health, and also enacted a law permitting the use of Government Laboratories for Post-graduate research work. Students may also be employed as assistants during the vacation months in these Laboratories. The new laboratories and hospitals of the Army and Navy and the Government Hospital for the Insane also offer excellent opportunities for instruction.

The great libraries and museums connected with the various Government institutions at Washington afford advantages to the student that are unrivalled in America, and are equal, if not superior, to those in most European capitals. These collections are freely open to the public, and can be consulted by students upon obtaining permission, readily granted to those who are pursuing special courses of study.

REQUISITES FOR ADMISSION.

Creditable certificates of good moral character, signed by two physicians of good standing in the State, Territory, or District in which the applicant last resided.

The Association of American Medical Colleges has prescribed the following minimum requirement for admission to the medical course:

(a) A bachelor's degree from an approved college or university.

(b) A diploma from an accredited high school, normal school, or academy requiring for admission evidence of the completion of an eight-year course in primary and intermediate grades, and for graduation not less than four years of study, embracing not less than two years (4 points) of foreign language, of which one must be Latin, two years (4 points) of mathematics, two years (4 points) of English, one year (2 points) of history, two years (4 points) of laboratory science, and six years (12 points) of further credit in language, literature, history or science.

(c) An examination in the following branches:

A. Required (18 points): Mathematics (4 points); English (4 points); History (2 points); Language (2 must be Latin, 4 points); Science (taken from physics, chemistry, botany, zoology, 4 points).

B. Optional (to 12 points): English, 2 points; History, 6 points; Language, 6 points; Manual Training, 2 points; Mechanical Drawing, 1 point; Natural Science (botany, biology, zoology), 2 points; Physical Science (chemistry, physics), 2 points; Trigonometry, 1 point; Astronomy (1), Civics (1), Geology (1), Physical Geography (1), Physiology, and Hygiene (1), Political Economy (1).

(One point in any subject in a high school or academic course demands not less than five periods per week of forty-five minutes each for eighteen weeks.)

(d) Certificates from reputable instructors recognized by the State board of medical examiners duly authorized by law or by the Superintendent of public instruction in States having no examining board may be accepted in lieu of any part of this examination.

SEC. 2. This examination must be conducted by or under the authority of the Board of Examiners or the Superintendent of public instruction of the city or State in which the college is located. In no case shall it be conducted by any person connected with the faculty, medical or otherwise, of the institution to which the student is seeking admission.

SEC. 3. A student may be allowed to enter on his medical work conditioned in not more than six points, and these conditions must be removed by satisfactory examination before he is allowed to enter on the second year of his medical course.

ADVANCED STANDING.

Students who have attended one or more terms at any other medical college in good standing will be admitted to advanced standing upon passing the examination required of students for the stage at which they propose to enter. Those presenting certificates of examination from other reputable medical colleges of equal requirements will be admitted to the respective higher classes without further examination.

Persons not candidates for the degree M. D. may be admitted without examination as special students, and may attend any of the courses upon giving satisfactory evidence that they are qualified intelligently to avail themselves of the instruction.

The preliminary examinations will be held at the College Building on Monday, September 28th; Tuesday, September 29th, and Wednesday, September 30, 1908, at 2 P. M.

METHOD OF INSTRUCTION.

The course of instruction will consist of didactic and clinical lectures, recitations, demonstrations, dissecting, laboratory work, and other practical manipulation. The students will be divided into four classes, called respectively, the First, Second, Third, and Fourth.

Class recitations will be conducted by members of the Faculty and by instructors.

A record of these recitations will be kept, and the average will be credited to each student in summing up after the final examinations at the end of the session.

Each student shall be obliged to attend 80 per cent of the exercises in every annual course of study for which he seeks credit. No student shall be given credit on examination unless he attains a grade of at least 75 per cent or its equivalent in any other marking system. And no student shall be graduated unless he shall have attained a passing grade in each and all subjects of the required curriculum.

The following is a sketch of the several courses of instruction:

ANATOMY.

PROF. FRANK BAKER, A. M., PH. D., M. D.

The didactic instruction is illustrated by demonstrations on the living subject, by dissections, models, and several hundred plates and lantern slides prepared especially for the course. The students are thoroughly examined orally from week to week as the course progresses in order to insure that they understand the work and are making satisfactory progress. Written examinations are held frequently. Especial attention is paid to the practical bearings of the science and its application to surgery and pathology.

OSTEOLOGY.

EMORY W. REISINGER, M. D.,

Assistant to the Professor of Anatomy.

This course includes a careful study of every bone in the human body, the pupil being required to point out and designate the important and technical features of each upon an actual specimen. For the study of the skeleton it is very much like the study of the softer parts in the dissecting room, and is an indispensable preliminary to that work.

PRACTICAL ANATOMY.

ROBERT H. OLESEN, M. D.

Demonstrator.

The dissecting room will be open daily for students, after October 15th, and the Demonstrator or his Assistants will be present. During the session there will be given special demonstrations of the brain, of the thoracic and the abdominal viscera, and also of other difficult or obscure regions of the body.

During each session every student of the First and Second Classes will be required to dissect all regions of the human body.

HISTOLOGY.

PAUL B. JOHNSON, M. D.

In this course, which embraces one full session, students of the first year are taught the theory and practical use of the microscope and the elements of microscopic technique, in addition to the minute anatomy of organs and tissues. Instruction is given in the well-equipped laboratory, and the course is chiefly devoted to practical laboratory work. It is the aim to cover thoroughly the subject of animal histology, the human tissues being compared with those of the lower vertebrates. The application of histology to physiology and pathology is duly considered. Students are required to prepare organs for examination, beginning with fresh specimens and ending with mounted sections, and to make drawings and descriptive notes of the microscopical appearance.

EMBRYOLOGY.

ROY D. ADAMS, M. D.

This course will consist of lectures and laboratory work. It will begin with spermatogenesis and ovogenesis, and then taking up the development after fertilization will proceed to the formation of the rudiment of the embryo, and concludes with a consideration of organology.

PHYSIOLOGY.

PROF. JOSEPH S. WALL, M. D.

One of the Visiting Physicians to the Providence and Foundling's Hospital. Dispensary Physician, the Children's Hospital.

This course will consist of lectures upon General and Special Physiology, together with recitations, frequent examinations, demonstrations and laboratory work.

While a knowledge of the facts of Physiology is essential, greater stress will be laid upon the underlying, fundamental principles, and their application to the problems of Pathology, Physical Diagnosis, and practical Medicine and Surgery.

MATERIA MEDICA AND THERAPEUTICS.

PROF. WILFRED M. BARTON, M. D.

The course on Materia Medica and Therapeutics will cover three years, and will consist of a combination of didactic and laboratory instruction. During the first year the student will be made acquainted by actual demonstration with the physical and chemical characteristics of the drugs of the Pharmacopoeia, their doses, compatibilities and incompatibilities; also weights and measures, elementary pharmacy, etc., and will be taught so much of the actions and uses of drugs as is necessary to illustrate their importance. During the second and third years the student will be taught by lectures and practical demonstrations the physiological action of drugs, and an effort will be made to fix the most important elements of pharmacodynamics by laboratory exercises. The attention of the student will be directed to the systematic study of the application of drugs to the treatment of disease, a practical knowledge of which is the ultimate aim of his course in pharmacology.

CHEMISTRY AND TOXICOLOGY.

PROF. JOHN D. HIRD, A. M., LL. M.

It is the aim in this department to give a practical course in chemistry and toxicology as related to the subject of medicine.

As a foundation for this course special attention is given to the subject of elementary chemistry, including thorough instruction in the laws governing chemical combination and molecular changes. This is supplemented by laboratory work, illustrating the subjects previously considered and setting forth the fundamental principles of chemical analysis.

In organic chemistry the instruction is given by means of lectures and laboratory work. This course includes an examination of the more important hydrocarbons and their derivatives, supplemented by lectures upon the theoretical and practical methods of manufacture, their character and uses, especially as they are related to medicine. Under the head of organic chemistry, that department of science known as sanitary chemistry also receives attention. This includes the practical examination of the various forms of matter which affect, either directly or indirectly, the general health. It is intended in this course that such a knowledge shall be imparted to the students as may enable them to differentiate between wholesome and unwholesome articles of food and drink. The various food products, particularly milk, cheese, bread and meats, will receive careful consideration. The examination of air in rooms, the velocity, condition and quality of air currents, will be considered under the head of ventilation. The organic analysis of water and its various forms of pollution, together with the examination of soils, will also receive attention.

Under the head of toxicology the general subject of poisons, including their effects, modes of action, subsequent dispositions and antagonisms is briefly considered, while the evidence of poisoning as furnished by chemical analysis is considered more in detail.

PHYSICS.

RALPH A. HAMILTON, M. D.,

Instructor in Physics.

A special course in physics as applied to medicine and surgery will be given during the first year. It will be illustrated by oral instruction and by laboratory experiments.

GENERAL PATHOLOGY AND BACTERIOLOGY.

PROF. EDWIN B. BEHREND, A. B., M. D.

The course in pathology will extend over two years. The instruction will consist of lectures, demonstrations, class recitations and laboratory work, and will embrace general and special pathology, including bacteriology and clinical pathology.

The lectures and class recitations are brought in close relation with the laboratory exercises. During the first half year general considerations of disease, including etiology and immunity, are taken up, and during the same period the laboratory work in bacteriology is made to explain and illustrate the didactic work as far as possible.

The second half year is devoted to the study of the anatomical changes in disease, including degeneration, regeneration, inflammation, tumor formation, etc. The course in pathological histology is so arranged as to keep pace with the class work; for this purpose a complete series of typical pathological specimens will be presented for individual study.

The course in clinical pathology contemplates the examination of blood, urine, feces, gastric contents, sputum, pathological exudates, etc., with special reference to clinical medicine and surgery. The great value of laboratory methods as aids in the diagnosis of disease will be emphasized.

MEDICAL ZOOLOGY.

WILLIAM H. HOUGH, M. D.,

Physician Government Hospital for the Insane.

This course comprises a series of twelve lectures on the animal parasites found in the human subject. The lecturer will describe the anatomy, life-history of the different forms, and the best means for treatment and prevention. The lectures will be supplemented by practical laboratory exercises in microscopical examinations of meat for Trichinella spiralis, and of fæces, for determining the presence of parasites.

SPECIAL PATHOLOGY AND MORBID ANATOMY.

PROF. I. W. BLACKBURN, M. D.,

Pathologist to the Government Hospital for the Insane.

This course will be devoted to the pathology and morbid anatomy of the individual organs, tissues, and fluids; to the consideration of tumors and morbid growths in general and in connection with special pathology; to the pathology of mental diseases; and the methods of conducting post-mortem examinations for medico-scientific and medico-legal purposes. The course will be supplemented by lectures, demonstrations, and practical necropsy work at the Government Hospital for Insane.

SURGICAL PATHOLOGY AND MILITARY SURGERY.

PROF. GEORGE BARRIE, M. D.

This course consists of an annual course of didactic lectures freely illustrated by plates, drawings and specimens adapted to the purpose of teaching modern views and progress in surgical pathology and therapeutics, and the principles of military surgery as applied to the management of gunshot wounds in civil practice.

PHYSICAL DIAGNOSIS.

PROF. JOHN D. THOMAS, A. B., M. D.,

Associate Physician, Georgetown University Hospital, and at the Central Dispensary and Emergency Hospital. Visiting Physician to the Home of Incurables.

In addition to the didactic lectures on the principles of physical diagnosis, at the college, there will be demonstrations to the students at Dr. Thomas' very large clinic at the Central Dispensary and Emergency Hospital, the University Hospital and the Home for Incurables. The class will be divided into sections, each member of which will make examinations under the personal supervision of Dr. Thomas. Thus they will be made familiar with one of the most important branches of medical practice.

THEORY AND PRACTICE OF MEDICINE AND DISEASES OF CHILDREN.

PROF. SAMUEL S. ADAMS, A. M., M. D.,

Attending Physician to Georgetown University and Children's Hospitals; Consulting Physician to Government Hospital for Insane, and Central Dispensary.

An effort will be made to give in the course of two sessions as complete a description as possible of the diseases usually considered as belonging to the province of this chair, and in such manner as to give the student a clear conception of the methods of discrimination and management of the various diseased conditions. This teaching, together with the supplementary advantages offered by the various clinics to which the student will have access, will, it is believed, afford him an opportunity of acquiring a thorough knowledge of this subject.

PRINCIPLES AND PRACTICE OF SURGERY.

PROF. GEORGE TULLY VAUGHAN, M. D.,

One of the Attending Surgeons at the Emergency Hospital, and Chief Surgeon Georgetown University Hospital; Consulting Surgeon Government Hospital for Insane.

The course in surgery extends over two and one-half years. Instruction is given by didactic lectures, recitations, and demonstrations at clinics, which are held at various hospitals and dispensaries, which afford material in abundance.

Students are instructed in the practical use and application of bandages, fracture dressings, and other surgical apparatus. The use of the principal surgical instruments is also demonstrated on the living subject or on the cadaver.

Members of the Fourth Class are instructed in orthopædic and genito-urinary surgery by lectures and clinical demonstrations, and are given a course in operative surgery on the cadaver, in which nearly every operation, minor and capital, classic and modern, is done by the student under the direction of the professor and his assistants.

OBSTETRICS.

PROF. HENRY D. FRY, M. D.,

Obstetrician, Georgetown University and Columbia Hospitals; Gynecologist to Garfield Hospital.

The course will be graded, and will consist of classified lectures comprising the whole subject, of recitations and demonstrations upon charts and plates, and of operations performed upon the manikin. During the past session each member of the senior class attended three or more cases of midwifery, of which he was required to keep records and present written reports. Every facility will be given to obtain experience in the practical workings of this department, by means of bedside instruction. Special attention will be devoted to abdominal palpation, pelvimetry, digital examination, and the methods of diagnosing presentations and positions of the fetus.

An opportunity is given to each student to perform the various obstetric operations, such as the application of forceps, version, etc.

The importance of exercising strict supervision over the period of pregnancy will be dwelt upon, and attention given to the pathological changes which may occur during gestation, labor, and the puerperal state.

The great value of antiseptic principles as applied to obstetric practice will be urged.

An operative course on the Budin-Pinard manikin will also be given.

GYNECOLOGY AND ABDOMINAL SURGERY.

PROF. JOSEPH TABER JOHNSON, A. M., PH. D., M. D.

One of the Consulting Physicians to the Central Dispensary and Emergency Hospital; Consulting Gynecologist to the Women's Dispensary and the Government Hospital for Insane; Surgeon in Charge of his own Hospital for Women, and of Gynecology and Abdominal Surgery in the Georgetown University Hospital.

Modern gynecology will be taught in didactic lectures, freely illustrated by plates and blackboard drawings, recitations, and also a small class at private and public operations, in four different hospitals, where manipulations and operative work will be carefully explained and demonstrated. Abdominal surgery will receive special attention.

Advanced students will be given an opportunity to witness the preparations for aseptic operations, and to assist in their performance when practicable.

OPHTHALMOLOGY.

PROF. WILLIAM H. WILMER, M. D.,

Ophthalmologist to Georgetown University, Episcopal Eye, Ear and Throat Hospital, and to the Central Dispensary and Emergency Hospital.

The course begins with lectures on the anatomy of the eye, illustrated by models, charts, and specimens under the microscope, followed by an explanation of the fundamental principles of physiological optics and the proper methods of examining the eye. The lectures are supplemented by quizzes and reviews. The lectures on the diseases of the eye are wholly clinical, illustrative cases being taken from Dr. Wilmer's extensive service at the Episcopal Hospital, Central Dispensary and Emergency Hospital, and at the University Hospital. The class is divided into small sections in order that the clinical teaching shall be as nearly personal as possible. More than two thousand new cases of eye diseases are treated annually at the Episcopal Hospital alone. Every important operation on the eye is performed in the presence of each section.

Drs. Dufour, Griffith, Green and Muncaster will give clinical demonstrations at the various hospitals with which they are connected.

LARYNGOLOGY, RHINOLOGY AND OTOTOLOGY.

PROF. WALTER A. WELLS, M. D.,

Surgeon in Charge of Throat and Ear Diseases, Garfield Hospital; Associate Attending Physician Episcopal Eye, Ear and Throat Hospital.

The course in otology will be chiefly clinical, and will be conducted with a view of familiarizing the students with the various forms of ear affections met with in actual practice, and instructing him in modern methods of diagnosing and treating them. After some preliminary notice of the history of these specialties, followed by a thorough demonstration by means of charts and specimens of the anatomy and physiology of these organs the subject will be taught by actual observation and study of the disease by contact with the patients.

The class will be divided into sections, so that each student may be personally taught the use of the instruments, and drilled in the methods of both subjective and objective examination of the patients. In the course of the year ample opportunity will be afforded of witnessing the major and minor operations which have to be performed in connection with these specialties.

HYGIENE AND DIETETICS.

PROF. GEORGE M. KOBER, M. D., LL. D.,

Consulting Physician to Children's Hospital, Washington Asylum Hospital, Providence Hospital and Central Dispensary and Emergency Hospital.

The course on hygiene and dietetics will include lectures and recitations on sunlight, air, climate, and meteorology; water, ice, artificial carbonated waters, and soils in relation to health and disease; food, beverages, and condiments, morbid and infected food products; dietetics in health and disease; the skin, bath and clothing; exercise, rest, sleep, beds, and bedding; private and public habitations, including drainage, ventilation, warming, and lighting, with practical demonstrations of sanitary appliances at the Museum of Hygiene.

STATE MEDICINE.

PROF. W. C. WOODWARD, M. D., LL. M.,

Health Officer District of Columbia.

The course on State Medicine will consist of lectures and of such demonstrations as may be practicable upon the relation of the medical practitioner to Government, and of the application of medical science to the purposes of the Government for the protection of public health, and for the determination of such medical problems as come before courts of law. Attendance will be obligatory upon the students in their fourth year.

DERMATOLOGY.

PROF. J. C. MCGUIRE, A. M., M. D.,

Dermatologist to Georgetown University Hospital.

The preliminary course will include a review of the history of dermatology, the minute anatomy of the skin, general pathology, etiology, and diagnosis of cutaneous affections, followed by lectures upon individual diseases illustrated by plates. A clinical course will be given to advanced students, as it is only at the bedside that a practical knowledge of this important branch of medicine can be obtained.

MENTAL AND NERVOUS DISEASES.

PROF. WILLIAM A. WHITE, M. D.,

Superintendent of the Government Hospital for the Insane.

This course will consist of didactic and clinical lectures. Lectures are held on Neurology before the Christmas vacation at the Medical College and after the Christmas holidays on Psychiatry at the Government Hospital for the Insane, which accommodates about 3,000 patients. Members of the Third and Fourth Classes will be admitted to them. Students will have opportunity to visit the wards of the Hospital, and each lecture will be illustrated by numerous cases, giving in great variety all the forms of insanity and diseases of the nervous system which are usually seen in the practice of the general practitioners in medicine.

DISEASES OF THE NERVOUS SYSTEM AND ELECTRO-THERAPEUTICS.

PROF. D. PERCY HICKLING, M. D.,

Neurologist to the University Hospital, Providence Hospital, and Physician in Charge of the Washington Asylum Hospital.

This course is largely clinical, and will embrace those diseases of the general nervous system which are commonly met with in practice, special attention being given to their diagnosis and treatment.

The course of Electro-Therapeutics will include a brief outline of Electro-Physics and Electro-Physiology, with practical illustrations of the use of the galvanic, faradic and static currents and X-Ray methods, with a discussion of the medical and surgical conditions in which this form of treatment may be used. The lectures will be amply illustrated with batteries, electrodes, rheostats and other electrical appliances.

CLINICAL INSTRUCTION AND ADVANTAGES.

GEORGETOWN UNIVERSITY HOSPITAL.

Corner of Thirty-fifth and N Streets, N. W.

Attendance upon clinical instruction is obligatory for students of the third and fourth years.

The Hospital and Dispensary are located in close proximity to the College grounds and accessible by three of the principal electric car lines in the city. This institution is in every sense a modern College hospital, wholly under the control of the School of Medicine, and affords ample and excellent facilities for illustrating by clinical teaching and ward classes the didactic instruction given in the various practical branches of the school. Owing to the favorable location of the Hospital, the Emergency Department enjoys an unusual field of activity, a matter of great importance to the students, as they receive special training in the effective management of emergency cases. Clinics will be given by the following professors of this school and by other members of the Hospital and Dispensary staff in the new amphitheatre, which accommodates over 180 students:

Surgical.—Dr. Vaughan.

Medical.—Dr. Adams, Dr. Morgan.

Gynecological.—Dr. Johnson.

Diseases of the Eye and Ear.—Drs. Wilmer and Dufour.

Diseases of Throat, Chest and Nose.—Dr. Wells, Dr. Thomas.

Dermatology.—Dr. McGuire.

Neurology.—Dr. Hickling.

PROVIDENCE HOSPITAL.

Capitol Hill, Corner Second and D Streets, S. E.

This large general hospital, situated in an easily accessible part of the city, is supported in part by the General Government.

It contains over one hundred beds. The medical and surgical wards are usually well filled with interesting cases. In the new surgical amphitheatre, one of the finest in the country, every provision has been made to fully carry out antiseptic surgery. Accommodations have been provided for over 150 students. Regular clinics are given by the following Professors:

Surgical.—Drs. Crook and Mitchell.

Clinical Medicine.—Drs. Vincent, Luce, and Marbury.

Gynecological.—Dr. Cuthbert.

Neurological.—Dr. Hickling.

Drs. Magruder and Kober are on the Consulting Staff.

CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL.

W Street, between Twelfth and Thirteenth Streets, N. W.

Students may here observe the diseases, injuries, and deformities incident to infancy and childhood, together with the treatment appropriate therefor. Every facility will be given to observe and comprehend thoroughly the cases admitted to its wards. The out-patient department or dispensary is open every week day from 2.30 to 4.30 p. m. It is divided into medical and surgical services, and a service for diseases of the eye and ear. All these are free of access for medical students.

Drs. Adams and Griffith, who are on the Staff, will give clinical instruction at this hospital. Drs. Johnson and Kober are on the Consulting Staff.

CENTRAL DISPENSARY AND EMERGENCY HOSPITAL.

Fifteenth Street and Ohio Avenue, N. W.

During the last year over 15,000 patients were treated here and over 2,200 surgical operations performed, many of capital importance. Unusual opportunities are afforded for acquiring practical experience in the ordinary duties of a physician. As a large proportion of the serious cases of accident that occur in the city are first brought to this hospital because of its central location, students become rapidly trained in the effective treatment of injuries demanding prompt assistance, and of that class of cases likely to be of the most importance to the young practitioner. Students are admitted to the services. The new building just completed offers greatly improved facilities for clinical instruction, and the ambulance service and casualty wards will afford special advantages for studying traumatic and operative surgery.

The Lionel Laboratory, established in connection with the hospital, affords a fine opportunity for the study of practical bacteriology, pathology and Röntgen ray work in association with surgery and medicine. Drs. Johnson, Magruder and Adams are on the Consulting Board.

Regular clinics are given by the following Professors of this school and other members of the staff:

Surgical—Dr. Vaughan.

Diseases of the Eye and Ear.—Drs. Wilmer, Dufour and Muncaster.

Physical Diagnosis and Diseases of the Chest, Throat and Nose.—Drs. Murray, Thomas and Mullins.

Medical.—Dr. J. D. Morgan.

GARFIELD HOSPITAL.

Florida Avenue and Tenth Street, N. W.

This Hospital also affords excellent facilities for clinical teaching, being splendidly equipped with all modern appliances. Regular clinics are given.

Medical.—Dr. J. D. Morgan.

Obstetrical and Gynecological.—Dr. H. D. Fry.

In all the above Hospitals the positions of Resident and Assistant Resident Physician are open to competitive examination to graduates of this school, who last year secured fifteen out of eighteen available positions.

In addition to the foregoing, clinics will be given by—

Dr. William A. White, Mental and Nervous Diseases at Government Hospital for Insane.

Dr. I. S. Stone, Gynecological, Columbia Hospital.

Drs. H. D. Fry and Wm. Sprigg, Obstetrical, Columbia Hospital.

Dr. Wm. C. Borden, Surgical, U. S. General Hospital, Washington Barracks.

Dr. D. Percy Hickling, Neurological, Medical and Surgical, Washington Asylum Hospital.

Dr. John D. Thomas, Physical Diagnosis, Home for Incurables.

Dr. Eliot, special cases of small pox.

EXAMINATIONS.

The standing of a student in any branch will be determined by combining the record of his recitations, his examinations (both written and oral), and his laboratory and clinical work.

At the end of each session examinations will be held as follows:

The First Class upon anatomy, osteology, histology, embryology, chemistry, physics, physiology and materia medica.

The Second Class upon anatomy, physiology, chemistry and toxicology, urinalysis, therapeutics, bacteriology, pathology, minor surgery.

The Third Class upon therapeutics, physical diagnosis, the practice of medicine, surgery, obstetrics, gynecology, general special pathology, pathology and morbid anatomy, medical zoology, surgical pathology, mental and nervous diseases, and hygiene.

The Fourth Class upon the practice of medicine, surgery, obstetrics, gynecology, laryngology and ophthalmology, and otology, state medicine, mental and nervous diseases, dermatology, electro-therapeutics, special pathology and morbid anatomy, surgical pathology and military surgery.

RE-EXAMINATIONS.

A second examination for those who have been found deficient in any of the work of the first three years will be held at the opening of the following session, and students will not be permitted to advance to higher classes if they have more than two conditions in the previous year's work after such re-examination. These conditions must be passed off before the end of the school year on which the student enters; that is to say, the conditions of the first year must be passed off before the end of the second year, and the conditions of the second year must be passed off before the end of the third year; but no student will be permitted to enter the fourth year until all conditions of the third year shall have been removed.

REQUIREMENTS FOR GRADUATES.

The candidate must be of good moral character and at least twenty-one years of age. He must have studied medicine not less than four years, during which he must have attended four full courses of instruction in four calendar years, each annual course to have been of not less than thirty teaching weeks' duration in some recognized medical school, the last of which shall have been delivered in this institution, and no student shall be graduated unless he shall have attained a passing grade in each and all subjects of the required curriculum.

Dental Department.

REQUISITES FOR ADMISSION.

The Dental Department conforms to the rules and regulations of the National Association of Dental Faculties, of which it is a member, as well as to those of the National Association of Dental Examiners.

In compliance with the requirements of the Board of Regents of the University of the State of New York and of the Illinois State Board of Dental Examiners, Candidates for admission must hereafter have a minimum preliminary education of not less than graduation from an accredited High School or its equivalent. The preliminary examination will not be required of an applicant who can show that he has covered the work of such examination by furnishing an official certificate to that effect issued by a reputable literary or scientific college, academy, high school, or State examining board.

Graduates in medicine are eligible for admission to the second class, and are excused from examination in the studies pertaining to the medical course of recognized institutions.

Those presenting certificates of examination for advanced standing from other reputable dental colleges of equal requirements will be admitted to the corresponding higher class without further examination.

The preliminary examinations will be held at the college building on Monday, September 28th, Tuesday, September 29th, and Wednesday, September 30th, and the regular session will begin Thursday, October 1, 1908, and end May 31, 1909.

Students applying for admission later than ten days after the opening day of the session can not be credited with a full course unless such delay is due to sickness, which must be vouched for by the certificate of a reputable practicing physician. In such case the date of admission shall not be later than twenty days from the opening day.

Students must continue in attendance until the close of the session in order to obtain credit for the full term.

METHODS OF INSTRUCTION.

The course of instruction will consist of didactic lectures, recitations, demonstrations, dissecting and laboratory work, and clinical instruction. The number of students taken in each class allows each member to come into close contact with the professors, and insures the most thorough individual instruction. The Dental Laboratory is fully equipped with electrical lathes, furnaces, rolling mill, vulcanizers, celluloid apparatus, lockers, etc. Here the student receives his first instruction. Every process of value known to mechanical dentistry is taught in this department.

Demonstrations by the instructors begins with taking impressions of the mouth by the use of the several materials employed for that purpose. The instruction, in its progress, includes consideration of the construction of artificial dentures and obturators in all their wide variety.

THE CLINICAL DEPARTMENT OR INFIRMARY consists of large operating-rooms, unequalled in point of lighting, heating and conveniences. They are furnished with all the requirements of such apartments. The chairs are so arranged as to command the best light. There are separate rooms for the administration of anesthetics, for the extraction of teeth; also one for taking impressions, occlusions, and doing work requiring the use of plaster or wax. The preparation and administration of sulphuric ether and nitrous oxide during the session familiarizes students with these varied agents.

There is also a department of Oral Surgery attached to the Georgetown University Hospital, where students have the privilege of witnessing all the operations pertaining to cleft palate, hare-lip, fractured maxilla, empyema of antrum, etc. Both infirmaries are under the immediate and continuous direction of a corps of competent demonstrators, who are always present to instruct and assist the students in their work. In the departments the student is taught the art of operative and prosthetic dentistry. The press of patients is very great, and the opportunities for practice unequalled. The student not only witnesses every kind of dental manipulation as practiced by the experienced, but is himself taught to accomplish all that pertains to the daily duties of a dental surgeon by actual practice.

This intimate union of theoretical and practical instruction will be insisted on during the entire session, and, indeed, is considered as the only factor essential to becoming a competent dental practitioner.

NO STUDENT WILL BE ALLOWED TO OPERATE IN THE INFIRMARY unless provided with the necessary instruments, a list of which may be obtained on application to the demonstrator in charge, with the exception of forceps, lathes, and vulcanizers. All expenses attending operations upon college patients are borne by the institution.

The operating rooms of the college are open for instruction the entire year, and students are obliged to attend regularly each day during the session.

CURRICULUM.

The instruction embraces a graded course of three years, each course followed by examinations thereon.

Punctual attendance upon the lectures and clinics is required of all students. The Faculty reserves the right to exclude from examinations, either in course or final, any student who has been habitually absent from lectures or other exercises.

COURSE OF STUDY.

ORAL PROSTHESIS AND ORTHODONTIA.

PROF. SHIRLEY W. BOWLES, D. D. S.

The instruction in this department is designed to impart a knowledge of all that pertains to the construction and application of artificial dentures and other oral appliances.

The more important subjects considered are: The preparation and treatment of the mouth for artificial dentures, the taking of impressions, a system of perfect articulations, the method of constructing the different bases used for dentures, and the construction and application of obturators.

Æsthetic or artistic dentistry is systematically taught and enforced. In this it is shown how dentistry may be employed for improving natural deformities and for restoring the contours of the face.

A special feature of the teaching in this department will be the exhaustive study of Crown and Bridge work. Students will be thoroughly grounded in the principles of a safe and conservative practice, so that they may clearly appreciate the indications for Crown and Bridge work. This will be accomplished by both didactic and clinical instruction, as well as special demonstrations in difficult cases.

Careful attention will be paid to the chemistry of metals and all the materials used in Dentistry.

The treatment of irregularities of the dental arch requires great skill and judgment. Lectures upon this subject will be thoroughly practical, and the student will be taught the most approved and scientific methods of correcting these deformities. This course of teaching will be illustrated by practical cases.

OPERATIVE DENTISTRY.

PROF. HOWARD P. COBEY, D. D. S.

The lectures from the chair of operative dentistry present the means and methods in use for the preservation of the natural teeth, together with the principles which form the basis of practice, including a description of instruments and their uses; also appliances and materials used in operating; the treatment and preparation of cavities; the methods of filling with various forms of gold and plastic materials. A special feature of instruction from this chair will be practical demonstrations in the mouth in the infirmary, before the entire class.

A course of instruction in Dental Ceramics is arranged for the graduating class. The college is provided with a large electric furnace, and porcelain inlays and crown and bridge work, together with continuous gum work, will receive special attention.

DENTAL TECHNIQS.

PROF. W. N. COGAN, D. D. S.

This course, while of importance to all new students, possesses especial value to such as have not had the advantage of office pupilage and laboratory work before entering college. It combines the features of manual training and exact observation, enabling the student to become familiar with the forms and tissues of the teeth, and to acquire a certain dexterity in the use of instruments before operating upon the living subject.

DENTAL MEDICINE AND PATHOLOGY.

PROF. H. JEROME ALLEN, M. D., D. D. S.

The lectures in this course will embrace a discussion of all drugs used in dentistry. Their preparation, physiological effect, therapeutic action and dental uses will be emphasized by this chair.

The lectures on Dental Pathology include such portions of general pathology as are of special interest to the dental student.

A detailed consideration is given of all the diseases of the teeth and surrounding parts; normal and abnormal character of oral secretions; dentition and its pathological results. The treatment necessary under each head is minutely detailed.

ORAL SURGERY.

PROF. JESSE RAMSBURGH, A. M., M. D.

Oral surgery is a specialty which is a distinct outgrowth from dentistry. As the work of the dentist came to include operations upon the surrounding tissues, as well as upon the teeth themselves, the adoption of surgical methods and more thorough training in the principles and practice of surgery became necessary. The addition of instruction in this branch to the dental curriculum includes thorough instruction in the most advanced methods of operative technique, including the use of the surgical engine, surgical anesthesia, asepsis, and antisepsis, and after-treatment of the case.

The instruction is both didactic and clinical, and students are encouraged to study and treat personally cases under the supervision of the Professor of Oral Surgery and his assistants.

ANESTHESIA AND EXTRACTION AND DENTAL HISTOLOGY

L. F. DAVIS, M. D., D. D. S.

The lectures on Histology include the comparative anatomy and the development of the teeth, and their component tissues, and the functions of dental organs.

The administration of nitrous oxide and the use of local anesthetics will also be dwelt upon from a dental standpoint.

ANATOMY.

PROF. FRANK BAKER, M. D., PH. D.

General anatomy will be thoroughly taught by this chair in the most careful manner. Models, plates, and the cadaver are abundantly supplied for the proper illustration of this subject. Special attention will be given to the descriptive anatomy of the head, face, neck, and oral cavity.

The demonstrator of practical anatomy will have charge of the class in the dissecting room, where dissecting material will be supplied in abundance.

PHYSIOLOGY.

PROF. JOSEPH S. WALL, M. D.

One of the features of the progress and development of modern Dentistry is its closer association with the wider field of General Medicine, through recognition of the fact that the foundations of each special branch are common to all. The dental practitioner of to-day, therefore, must acquire a fuller knowledge of the whole organism, in order that he may the more intelligently deal with that part of it which is his immediate province. To this end the student will find, in this course, especial emphasis laid upon the fundamental principles of Physiology, while the practical application will be pointed out in lectures, recitations and practical demonstrations.

MATERIA MEDICA AND THERAPEUTICS.

PROF. WILFRED M. BARTON, M. D.

A complete course of materia medica and general therapeutics will be given by this chair, while special attention will be called to the nature and therapeutic uses of those drugs required in dentistry. Students will be given opportunities to become personally familiar with the physical properties of drugs, the compounding of prescriptions, and the methods of applying topical remedies.

In this course the student will be made familiar with the different agents used to accomplish anesthesia, the contra-indication to their use, and practical demonstration in the infirmary of the different methods employed for the administration of the various anesthetics.

CHEMISTRY AND TOXICOLOGY.

PROF. JOHN D. HIRD, A. M., LL. M.

It will be the aim of the professor of this chair to give an accurate knowledge of the principles of the science, dwelling especially upon those points which are of peculiar interest to the dental student. Careful attention will be paid to the vital chemistry of anesthetics, and the special chemistry of the mouth, the stomach, and intestinal tube will be fully treated.

PHYSICS.

RALPH A. HAMILTON, M. D.

A course in the elements of physics, with special reference to their application to medicine and dentistry, will be given during the first year.

PATHOLOGY AND BACTERIOLOGY.

PROF. EDWIN B. BEHREND, A. B., M. D.

The study of these important subjects is obligatory. This has been made necessary on account of their close relationship to dental pathology and therapeutics. The instructions are principally practical, and embrace full laboratory teaching of the most important subjects of these studies.

GRADUATION.

At the close of the third year a student who has passed all examinations satisfactorily receives the degree of Doctor of Dental Surgery (D. D. S.) on the following conditions:

Candidate must be of age and of good moral character.

Candidate must have passed a satisfactory examination in all the branches of the curriculum; must have attended the practical instruction in all departments, and the last course of instruction must have been at this college.

Candidates must sign an agreement with the Dean to live up to the ethics of the profession.

The examinations are conducted orally and in writing, and are held at the middle and close of each term, thus dividing the strain upon the student.

Prior to such examinations specimens of operations upon the natural organs performed in the Dental Infirmary must be exhibited to the Professor of Operative Dentistry, and such other specimen work as he may require; also an approved specimen of dental mechanism constructed in the Dental Laboratory upon a model of practical use must be submitted to the Professor of Oral Prosthesis.

No student will be admitted to examination for advancement or graduation until all indebtedness for instruction shall have been paid.

FEES.

Matriculation (payable but once).....$ 5.00
Tuition, each year 150.00

Students will be required to make an annual deposit of $10 to cover loss, breakage or damage to the property of the school. This deposit, less the charges made against it, is refunded to the student upon his withdrawal.

A student repeating a course will be charged full fees for that course.

Payment of not less than one-fourth of the fees is required at the commencement of the session, the balance by January 1st, ensuing. This payment must be made upon registration, and students will not be admitted for re-examination without previous registration.

The expenses of a student during the eight months, including tuition, books, board and lodging, laundry and other incidentals need not exceed $350.00, and $425.00 will be a liberal allowance.

School of Law.

Of the great advantages offered by a Law School over the unassisted reading of a student in a law office there can be no question. Here, however, the experiment has been successfully made of uniting the advantages of the two. The lectures are held in the evening, and, so far as practicable, students who put themselves into timely communication with the Secretary are connected with the offices of the ablest lawyers of the city, where they are allowed to familiarize themselves with the conduct of business and the practical duties of the profession.

The holding of the lectures and other exercises in the evening also enables clerks in the various departments of the Government, and other persons who are engaged during the day, to avail themselves of the privileges of the school.

The site of the institution, at the Capital of the Nation, presents advantages for the study of American jurisprudence which are unequalled elsewhere, and must always remain so.

The Law Library at the United States Capitol contains over 100,000 volumes, embracing all the noted treatises, reports and periodicals, ancient and modern, American, English and of the nations of Continental Europe. By the operation of the copyright law and the outlay of an annual appropriation it is constantly enriched with new acquisitions, and it is believed to be kept in a state of completeness unrivaled among the law libraries of the world. The magnificent collection is freely open to students seven hours daily.

Congress, the Court of Claims, the Supreme Court of the United States, and the Court of Appeals of the District of Columbia are in session during several months of each school year, and, with the Executive Departments, especially the Patent, Pension and General Land Offices, furnish advantages for professional study nowhere else enjoyed.

The Supreme Court of the District of Columbia has the common law, equity, criminal and probate jurisdiction of a State Court in the States, besides that of the Circuit and District Courts of the United States. Its sessions afford the student opportunities for hearing the forensic arguments and forming the acquaintance of the leaders of the American Bar from all parts of the Union, besides thoroughly familiarizing himself with the practice of these various courts.

COST OF BOARDING, ETC.

There is no boarding department connected with the Law School. The majority of the law students board in Washington City, where the Law School is located, and where the cost of comfortable lodging, board, fuel and gas varies from $20 to $30 per month, according to the location and appointments selected. Satisfactory accommodation can easily be had at $25 per month, and there are every year students who provide for themselves comfortably at a cost of $20 per month, and even less. Tuition is $100 per annum, with no incidental charges except a diploma fee of $10 upon graduation. Cost of text-books is about $30 per annum. The Law School Session is from the first Wednesday in October to the first Wednesday in June—about eight months. The necessary expense for board, lodging, tuition, books, etc., per annum, is therefore about $350, exclusive, of course, of clothing and general incidental expenses.

STUDENTS.

Students desiring to become members of the school enter their names upon the Secretary's register at or before the opening of the term in October. Candidates for a degree must have received a high school education, or its equivalent, evidence of which must be presented or a preliminary examination will be required.

Candidates for advanced standing—i. e., those desiring to complete the Course in one or two years—must, at the time of entry, present certificates of previous study at some approved

Law School, or under the direction of a reputable practitioner. Such certificate must show, moreover, that the candidate has passed a satisfactory examination upon the subjects embraced in the First, or First and Second Years, as the case may be, otherwise an examination will be necessary before he can enter an advanced Class. This examination will always be required of those whose study has been carried on under the direction of a practitioner.

COURSE OF STUDY.

The regular curriculum will cover a period of three years, divided into a First, Second, and Third Year. Upon the successful completion of the Three Years' Course the student will be entitled to receive the degree of Bachelor of Laws.

Regular and punctual attendance on the part of the student is required, as also preparation for thorough recitations in class daily, and delinquency in either particular will be deemed a sufficient cause for refusing to grant a degree.

Candidates for a degree must have been in regular attendance for at least one year, and must pass a satisfactory examination on the entire year's course of study.

The following is the course of study pursued in the Law School:

FIRST YEAR.

FIRST TERM.

Real Property, Professor Baker, Blackstone's Commentaries.

Personal Property, Professor Colbert, Darlington on Personal Property.

Elementary Law, Professor Douglas, Smith on Elementary Law.

Wright, Clark on Corporations; Shepard's Selected Cases on Corporations.

The quizzes will be held at 7.30 o'clock on at least four evenings in each week, and special attention is called to the fact that the regular attendance of the students, at every quiz, is expected and required.

EXAMINATIONS.

Each text-book in the course of study is made the subject of a carefully written examination, upon, or shortly after, its completion. Students passing satisfactorily upon the subjects of these examinations will not be required to stand a second examination upon them during the year; while those who fall below the standard required may, at the discretion of the Faculty, if they have been regular in their attendance upon lectures and quizzes, have an opportunity of making up the deficiency before its close. This system has been found to promote more careful study, and, at the same time, to admit of more thorough examination, with less tax upon the student's endurance than a general examination at the close of the courses.

THE MOOT COURT.

Especial, painstaking effort has been devoted, with gratifying results, to perfecting such an organization of the Moot Court as would render that adjunct of the School not merely a forum for the argument of mooted questions of law, but a useful and efficient training school for the practical duties of the profession.

As now organized, the Court is divided into a Circuit Court and a Court of Appeals.

The Circuit Court, under the charge of Mr. D. W. O'Donoghue, holds two sessions weekly, known as the Special and the Regular Term. At the Special Term motions, demurrers, pleas in equity, and all proceedings of an interlocutory or preliminary nature which, in actual practice, ordinarily precede the final hearing upon the merits of the case, are heard and disposed of, while at the Regular Term such proceedings are had as usually characterize the final hearing of causes in Courts of the first instance. The practice conforms to that of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, with pleadings as at common law.

The Court of Appeals, to which causes may be removed from the Circuit Court by writ of error or appeal conformably to the practice of the United States Supreme Court, is held by Messrs. Leigh Robinson, J. Holdsworth Gordon and J. Nota McGill, and sits monthly, or oftener, as the work before it may require.

While the students in the Third Year Course are required to take the leading part in the exercises of the Moot Court, it will continue to be the endeavor of the Faculty to make the Court, as in the past, a training school for all the students, as their progress warrants, in pleading, practice and forensic debate.

LIBRARY AND READING ROOM.

A carefully selected Library, comprising the latest editions of the standard text-books, and the leading reports, has been provided for the accommodation and convenience of students in a well-lighted and suitably appointed suite of rooms in the Law Building set apart exclusively for the purpose. These rooms are open to students and alumni of the School at all hours of the day and evening.

Students who have completed the foregoing three years' course, and holders of the degree of Bachelor of Laws, will, upon the successful completion of this course, be entitled to receive the degree of Master of Laws.

The principal subjects included in this course are as follows:

The History of the Development of Law, tracing its Origin and Development from Ancient to Modern Times; the History of English Law; the History of Constitutional Law and the Foundations of Civil Liberty; Natural Law; Canon Law; Civil Law; International Law and Foreign Relations of the United States; Admiralty and Maritime Law; the Conflict of Laws, especially as affecting the subjects of Domicil, Citizenship, Residence, Marriage and Divorce, Parent and Child, Guardian and Ward, Interest and Usury, Deeds and other Contracts, Wills, the Administration of Estates of Decedents, Receivers, etc., Special Tort Law, including Trusts and other Combinations; Railroad Accident Law, etc.; Special Contract Law, including Fire and Life Insurance; Contracts of Carriers; Statute of Frauds; the Statute of Limitations, etc., Special Real Estate Law, including Water and Water Courses; Fixtures; Easements, etc.; Patent Law, including the General Principles of the Patent Statutes and Procedure before the Patent Office and Federal Courts; Jurisdiction of the United States Courts; the Conflict of Jurisdiction; Practice; Transportation as affected by the Interstate Commerce Law; Estoppel; Medical Jurisprudence; Municipal Corporations; Testamentary Law and Legal Ethics; Citizenship.

Besides these subjects the Faculty has conceded to establish practical exercises in General Practice, Pleading and Evidence. In this course the student will be required to draft, not only the different pleadings, both Law and Equity, and all motions incident to practice in both Courts, but contracts, deeds, leases and other papers which come within the practice of the general practitioner. Questions arising on the pleadings prepared by the students will be argued by all of them, and questions of evidence will be put to all the class, and, after proper preparation, every student will be expected to argue, either in favor of or against the admissibility of the evidence, as he may be called upon by the Lecturer in charge; likewise questions embracing the rule of evidence under consideration will be put without notice to the students, in order not only to illustrate the subject under consideration, but to teach the student to apply the rules of evidence in exactly the same manner as they are applied by the lawyer in the trial of a cause.

It is intended by these exercises that the student gain a practical knowledge which will aid him materially in entering upon the practice of the law.

Lectures on special subjects will be delivered occasionally throughout the year by lawyers and educators of national reputation.

The arrangement of the subjects in this course and the hours of delivery of the lectures will be announced at the commencement of the first term.

TEXT BOOKS.

Minor on the Conflicts of Laws; Dillon on Municipal Corporations; Patterson on Railway Accident Law; Hughes on Admiralty; Curtis on Jurisprudence of United States Courts; Sohm's Principles of Roman Law and Sharswood's Legal Ethics.

Leading cases upon the several subjects will be assigned by the lecturers to be read in connection with the lectures.

As a prerequisite to graduation, students in this course will be required not only to pass a satisfactory examination on the entire year's course of study, but also to submit a satisfactory thesis upon a legal subject to be selected and announced by the Faculty.

LECTURE STUDENTS.

Those who wish to avail themselves of the lectures delivered at this school without being subject to recitations or being candidates for a degree may do so upon payment of one-half of the regular charge for tuition.

SYSTEM OF INSTRUCTION.

The system of instruction adopted by the Georgetown Law School is the following: A lesson, averaging from thirty to forty pages of the text-book, is assigned in advance, which the student is expected to master as thoroughly as he can before the recitation hour. The lecturer then goes over the ground covered by the text, explaining what is obscure or difficult, pointing out the application in practice of the principles treated of, and illustrating, by examples, their application in actual cases. Then follows the "Quiz," in which the lesson is gone entirely over again in the shape of questions, requiring the students to reproduce in their own language all that it contains, with practical applications of the doctrines learned to supposed cases. The student thus has three opportunities of becoming familiar, theoretically and practically, with each topic treated in the course; once by careful study of the text, a second time by the discussion of it in the lecture, and once again by himself reproducing and practically applying the principles thus taught, in answer to the "Quiz." This system has been found, after careful and painstaking tests, most satisfactory to both teacher and student, and productive of the highest standard of proficiency in study. It is believed to be absolutely the best.

TERMS.

The charge for attendance in the First, Second and Third Years is One Hundred Dollars per annum. As far as payment of tuition is concerned the collegiate year is regarded as divided into two equal terms, beginning on the first Wednesday in October and February, respectively, and one-half the annual charge becomes due and payable on the following day, Thursday. For the accommodation of students the Secretary will, when requested, receive monthly payments, strictly in advance.

Tuition in the Fourth or Post-Graduate Course is also One Hundred Dollars per annum, payable semi-annually, or in monthly installments in advance.

Persons enrolling their names as students will be considered as having entered the school for not less than one term unless an express agreement to the contrary is made. Payment will not be received for less than one full month, nor can any deduction be made for absence.

For attendance on Lectures, as hereinbefore stated, the charge is Fifty Dollars per annum, payable in monthly installments in advance.

The fee for Graduation, which is additional to the yearly charge for attendance, and which includes all expenses of the annual commencement is Ten Dollars.
